Ridgway Verifies Communist Atrocity Killings

Should Be No Surprise He Says

Far East Commander Expresses Regret At Way News Disclosed

TOKYO, Nov. 17—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today verified the Communist atrocity killings of United Nations soldier captives in Korea and declared "the shocking impact of the brutality which has been revealed should have been no surprise to the American people."

But the supreme allied commander in hi first comment on the sensational story that shocked the world Wednesday expressed regret over the way it was disclosed.

Ridgway, in a statement, said all known deaths already had been reported to next of kin and that the report had caused needless anguish among relatives of those soldiers still listed as missing.

On Wednesday Col. James M. Hanley, head of the war crimes section of the U. S. Eighth Army, disclosed in Korea that nor 'v 6,000 allied soldiers — 5,500 of them Americans — had been slaughtered by their Communist captives since the outbreak of teh war.

Hanley was brought to Tokyo today by Col. George Patrick Welch, Ridgway's public information officer, presumably to answer any questions while the Ridgway statement was being prepared.

Red Radio Denies Report

Shortly before Ridgway spoke out, Peiping radio entered a blanket denial of Hanley's report. It maintained that United Nations prisoners of war were treated well "despite difficult conditions."

Then the Chinese Communist radio countered with its own charges that "thousands and tens of thousands" of Chinese and North Korean Red soldiers "who fell into the hands of the United Nations forces have been massacred."

This ran counter to all reports of United Nations treatment of prisoners. Hanley in his report said all Red prisoners were well cared for. Only yesterday AP Photographper Robert H. Schutz visited a large war prisoner camp and said he found the Communist captives well fed and well clothed.

Ridgway's statement emphasized that there had been no intention of withholding the atrocity figures.

Wanted Appropriate Time

"It had been concluded some months ago, that an appropriate time when the accumulated evidence warranted and when due coordination had been effected with the proper authorities in Washington, this evidence should be made public," Ridgway said.

"That this coordination was not properly affected at the time of this release is of the utmost regret to this headquarters."

Ridgway said release of Hanley's information had "no connection whatever with the current armistice negotiations," at Panmunjom.

The commander-in-chief said

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 3

The Place of The President And Congress in Foreign Policy

(PART 2)

WHEN THE GERMANS broke through in France in June 1940 Mr. Roosevelt gave every encouragement to France and England to go on fighting. The end of his letter of June 15, 1940, to Premier Reynaud is enlightening, and I quote:

"In these hours which are so heart-rending to the French people and yourself, I send you the assurances of my utmost sympathy, and I can further assure you that so long as the French people continue in defense of their liberty, which constitutes the cause of popular institutions throughout the world, so long will they rest assured that material and supplies will be sent to them from the United States in ever increasing quantities and kind.

SENATOR TAFT

"I know that you will understand that these statements carry with them no implication of military commitments. Only the Congress can make such commitments.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt"

Yet Harry S. Truman in the case of Korea undertook to do exactly the thing which Franklin Roosevelt said he had no power to do.

Case of Korea

In the case of Korea it was claimed that the intervention could take place under the United Nations Charter on the call of the Security Council. Of course the Security Council never acted under Articles 41 and 42 of the United Nations Charter, and even if it had done so the obligation to send troops is clearly limited by Article 43. That Article provides that troops can only be called for when an agreement has been entered into with the Security Council specifying the number and character of the assistance to be furnished. No such agreement has ever been entered into.

The United Nations Participation Act of 1945, approved by President Truman also made it clear that any agreement which required the providing of military aid must be subsequently approved by Congress, and, of course, it never has been.

Not only that, but President Truman sent a cable from Potsdam when the United Nations Charter was under consideration, in which he said: "When any such agreement or agreements are negotiated, it will be my purpose to ask the Congress by appropriate legislation to approve them." The charter was adopted largely on that assurance, but now the President's claims are far beyond what they were then.

Unlimited Power?

The State Department itself admits that the action of the Security Council in the Korean case was only a recommendation under Article 39. If the President can carry out every recommendation of the Security Council or the General Assembly supported by the vote of the American representative whom he can direct, then he has almost unlimited power to do anything in the world in the use of either troops or money. The Security Council might recommend that the nations should rebuild the canals on the Tigris and Euphrates and establish a vast Garden of Eden in the Kingdom of Iraq. According to the argument made, the President would then have power to use all American forces to establish such an economic project.

On the same theory, he could send troops to Tibet to resist Communist aggression or to Indo-China or anywhere else in the world, without the slightest voice of Congress in the matter. If that

Contract Let For Depot Warehouse

Columbus Company Awarded $1,365,805 Building Project

George Sheaf and Company, general contractors of Columbus, yesterday was awarded a $1,365,805.62 contract for construction of a warehouse at the Marion Engineer Depot.

Announcement of contract awarding was made today by Col. Walter Kreuger Jr., district engineer of the Huntington, W. Va., District, Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army.

The bid entered by the Sheaf Co. when bids were opened Thursday was the lowest of 14 submitted. Second low bid was entered by the Dawson Evans Co. of St. Bernard, O.

General Purpose Warehouse

The contract calls for the construction of a 200 by 1,000-foot general purpose warehouse. The building will be of structural steel and concrete block construction. The general contract includes heating, water, electric, pavement and sewer contracts as well as construction of a railroad spur track when construction is completed.

Col. Kreuger was unable to announce the date set for starting the work or of the completion date.

Money Appropriated

Funds for construction of the new building were appropriated by Congress last June. The Department of Defense at that time asked for $3,483,000 for use at the local installation.

The Department announced the funds were needed for construction of new warehouses and supporting facilities including a new sprinkler system in warehouses for fire protection and renovation of nearly 20 miles of railroad track on Depot grounds.

The Huntington Corps of Engineers also awarded a $492,492 contract to A. Bentley and Sons Co. of Toledo for an addition to the base maintenance shop already under construction by the engineers at the Rossford Ordnance Depot, near Toledo.

The addition will be 124 by 403 feet, of steel and concrete block and includes heating, water, light and ventilation facilities.

See Truman Starting To Clean House

Assistant Attorney General's Dismissal Said Only Beginning

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—President Truman's confidants said today the firing of assistant attorney general Theron Lamar Caudle is the beginning of a sweeping administration housecleaning.

The President reportedly has sent out word to fire, retire, or get the resignation of all government executives whose outside activities, however legal, might provide fodder for Republican campaign oratory.

Sources at Key West, Fla., where Mr. Truman is spending a vacation, said other dismissals may follow yesterday's firing of Caudle, and that professional politicians are on notice to get in line for the clean-up drive.

They said Mr. Truman, with his eye on the hard 1952 presidential race ahead, is determined to weed out those who might lay his administration open to charges of corruption.

"Just a Starter"

"This is just a starter," said one highly-placed advisor in Key West. He asked that he not be quoted by name.

"The President is angry over disclosures that have reflected on him and his administration. He hopes that any of those whose activities are open to question will step out of their own accord."

Even before word came from Key West, the feeling in Washington was that Caudle's firing was just the first move in a planned wide-scale clean-up.

"This is just the beginning," said Rep. King (D-Calif), chairman of the House ways and means subcommittee, which has been unearthing corruption and misconduct in the nternal Revenue service.

The President late yesterday fired Caudle as the government's chief prosecutor of tax frauds less than 48 hours after the committee passed along to Mr. Truman information it said it had dug up on Caudle's activities.

Mr. Truman announced Caudle resigned by request because he had "engaged in outside activities" inconsistent with his position as head of the Justice Department tax division. Presidential secretary Joseph Short told reporters that "as far as the President knows nothing done has been illegal."

"My Heart Is Broken"

In an emotional interview following the President's announcement from Key West, Fla., Caudle said "My heart is broken."

"I have nothing to hide from anybody," he said of his four years as a tax prosecution chief.

Caudle's ouster will have no effect on the King committee's plans to summon him as the star witness in hearings now scheduled for Nov. 26, the Monday following the Thanksgiving weekend.

King told newsmen the hearings would go ahead and Caudle would be subpenaed as a witness if necessary.

The chairman would not comment on the nature of the information presented Mr. Truman, and presidential counsel Charles Murphy, by telephone last Wednesday.

King said that he discussed Caudle with the President, and that later committee counsel

Many Attend Ceremony

Ground Broken For High School Building

By EMORY J. ANDERSON

Leaden skies and a chill north wind failed to cool the spirits of several thousand students and interested Marionites who gathered at Harding Athletic field to witness the ground breaking ceremonies for the new high school Friday at 2 p.m.

The first spadeful of earth was moved by J. D. Torrance, president of the Marion City Board of Education.

Construction work on the new $2,750,000 high school is scheduled to begin immediately. General contractors are the Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine.

Attending the ceremony were members of the school board, each of whom was introduced.

The Harding High School marching band, which led a parade of high school pupils to the site of the new building opened the ceremony by playing the National Anthem.

Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of city schools, spoke briefly and introduced Mr. Torrance who told of the work that had been carried on since 1938 by Marionites interested in a new high school building.

The members of the board of education were introduced then by Mr. Torrance who stood upon the treads of a Knowlton Construction Co. bulldozer to deliver his short talk.

Members of the board stood upon a pile of earth heaped up by the bulldozer.

The ceremony took place on approximately the spot where the front entrance to the new high school will be located. Surveyors were already busy laying out lines and setting stakes for the start of the construction.

The new L-shaped building will parallel Seminole Ave. and Mandana Ave. on the present high school athletic field. Harding stadium is located at the south end of the field.

The gymnasium will be on the Seminole Ave side of the building. The front entrance to the school will be near the intersection of Seminole Ave. and Mandana Ave. at the north end of the field.

The building, which will contain 45 class rooms, is expected to take 18 to 24 months to complete.

J. D. TORRANCE, president of the Marion City Board of Education, turns the first spadeful of earth to mark the start of the work on the new high school building.

Woman Breaks Ankle in Jump From Roof

Trying To Elude Husband, She Tells Police

Mrs. Ruth Steward of 185 Edwards St. suffered a compound fracture of her left ankle early today after jumping from her porch roof. She jumped to elude her husband, who had chased her up on the roof, she told police.

She is receiving treatment at City Hospital.

Police received a call at 1:42 a.m. today reporting a fight at the Steward home. On arrival they found Mrs. Steward had climbed out the upstairs window on the porch roof. Her husband was inside with a gun. Mrs. Steward told police her husband was drunk and had threatened to kill her.

When police went to the front door of the house Steward threw down the gun and ran upstairs. Mrs. Steward, still on the porch roof, heard him coming and jumped off the roof, breaking her ankle.

Police entered the house and arrested Steward. The found Mrs. Steward crawling around the house and took her to the hospital.

Steward was arrested and charged with intoxication and is being held in City prison pending a further investigation. He was arrested at his home in 1946 and charged with disorderly conduct on much the same kind of incident, police reported.

Mrs. Steward has a four-month-old child which was taken to the hospital to be with the mother.

Bid To End Cease-Fire Deadlock

Offer Conditional On Signing of Armistice Within 30 Days

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 17 — (AP)—The U. N. command, in a dramatic move to end the cease-fire deadlock, today offered to accept the Communist buffer zone proposal—if an armistice is signed within 30 days. The Communists indicated they might agree.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho told United Nations negotiators the U. N. plan "seems in the main to be in accordance with our principles."

The Reds promised to study the proposal overnight and "comment" further when the subcommittees working on the cease-fire line issue meet again at 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m., EST, Saturday) in Panmunjom.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief U. N. subcommittee delegate, told the Communist negotiators Saturday that the U. N. Allies will accept the Red proposal to fix a tentative cease-fire line along the present battle front. But he made it clear the line will become permanent only if all other armistice terms are agreed upon within 30 days after the proposal is accepted by the full five-member armistice delegations.

Would Require Revision

If no armistice is signed before the deadline, then a new cease-fire line would have to be fixed, Hodes said.

"We don't see any reason why the Communists wouldn't accept the latest U. N. proposal to settle the buffer zone issue," said Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie, official U. N. command spokesman. "We made it in all sincerity and with the expectation that it would be accepted."

He said the immediate Communist reply came "much faster than we would have expected."

After Lee indicated the Reds might agree to the U. N. proposal, Hodes suggested that staff officers of both sides meet at 10 a.m. Sunday to start working out the line of battle contact which would become the tentative cease-fire line.

Lee did not respond to the 10 a.m. meeting suggestion but replied: "I have received your proposal in writing and heard your explanation. Since we have yet to make a full study of your proposal I cannot answer. But will give you our comment on your proposal tomorrow."

Clear-cut Assurance

The United Nations plan demands clear-cut assurance from the Reds that agreement on the tentative cease-fire line would not be an end to the shooting before a full armistice is signed.

"There is no question of a de facto cease-fire," Levie said. "It will amount to ground, sea and air action to the extent determined by Gen. Ridgway and his ground, sea and air commanders."

No one in official position at this advance U. N. command base would suggest that agreement on the Allied buffer zone proposal would mean an immediate halt in the ground fighting.

Blood-Giving Record Set By 197 Donors

Contribute 189 Pints in Response To Red Cross Appeal

All records were broken at the Red Cross Blood Donor Center Thursday when 197 contributors gave 189 pints of blood. This is the largest contribution since the Blood Program was started in January 1949.

It was a weary but happy group of volunteer workers that closed the doors of the recreation room of the First Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m., following eight hours of full time work. Today they are expressing not only their own gratitude, but that of men on the Korean battle front and civilians to whom these contributions mean a help on the road back to health.

Work For All

Doctors, registered nurses and members of the volunteer staffs responded generously and there was work for all up until closing time. On the donor side of the ledger, numbers speak for themselves.

Of the 228 persons registered, 141 reported, and 56 donors walked in to add their pint of blood. Industries responding were the Commercial Steel Casting Co., Osgood Co., Alloy Cast Steel Co., and the General Excavator Co., churches and schools.

Doctors in charge were Dr. John A. McNamara and Dr. Wil-

"Gizmograph" Works, Claims Its Inventors

Makes 3-Dimensional Landscape Models From Photographs

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(UP)—Two young Charleston inventors have devised a machine that creates a three-dimensional scale model of a landscape from ordinary two-dimensional aerial photographs.

The process takes less than two hours.

The electronically-operated machine is called a gizmograph by its inventors, Lewis E. Whinnery, 25, and Robert E. Martens, 31.

Whinnery said the gizmograph has so many possibilities for aiding in the rapid briefing of pilots on their targets that many parts of it are classified secret by defense department officials.

Whinnery explained that a plane returns with two pictures of one square mile of enemy land taken from slightly different angles. His machine then will cut a model of the land, complete with hills and valleys, out of two-foot-square section of foam plastic.

To make the model larger requires only additional time.

The secret of the gizmograph is in how it adds the vital third dimension of depth to the dimensions of length and width found in the pictures.

The two pictures are developed and beamed downward into a hermetically-sealed tank from twin projectors.

This dual projection provides a three-dimensional view similar to those seen by looking through old-time stereoscopes at prints of the Leaning Tower of Pisa and other scenic wonders.

Inside the glass tank is a gas, the nature of which Whinnery won't disclose. This gas is energized with high frequency radar impulses from outside. The result is that the contour of the land in the photograph is captured inside the tank in the form of a semi-transparent surface of electronic particles.

A tiny beam of light projected through one side of the tank travels back and forth across that surface. A photo-electric cell mounted beside the lamp records the height of the light as it scans the artificially-created surface.

Impulses from the photo-electric cell travel to three separate motors that control the horizontal, vertical and lateral position of a cutting knife suspended over the block of plastic.

As the light inside the tank of gas moves up and down across the electronically-made surface, the knife duplicates its movements and carves the foam plastic into an exact replica of the land in the original photographs.

Warren Opens Campaign

Proposes Party Take Middle-Road Course

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 17—(AP)—Gov. Earl Warren of California has opened his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination with proposals that his party take a middle of the road course and support demands of the people for social progress.

In the initial speech of his campaign last night the 60-year-old governor declared that the Republican party has never been radical and must never become reactionary.

He said the party should stand for:

Honesty in government; a bipartisan foreign policy; support of the United Nations; medical care on reasonable terms; slum clearance, and "the right of every segment of our society to a measure of security."

"We cannot stand still," the California governor declared in a radio speech last night. It was the opening talk of his campaign for the 1952 GOP presidential nomination.

Although the U. S. Constitution has been amended only 22 times in 162 years, many states have altered their governing charters frequently. The California constitution has been amended 312 times; South Carolina's 192 times; Oregon's 113 times; and Arizona has added 45 amendments since entering the Union in 1912.

A Foreign Policy for Americans

could be the effect of an international treaty, we had better watch closely the approval of any such treaty in the future. Of course, it is not.

My conclusion, therefore, is that in the case of Korea, where a war was already under way, we had no right to send troops to a nation, with whom we had no treaty, to defend it against attack by another nation, no matter how unprincipled that aggression might be, unless the whole matter was submitted to Congress and a declaration of war or some other direct authority obtained.

Question of Europe

The question of sending troops to Europe is certainly much more complicated. There is no doubt about the President's power to send troops to occupied Germany. There is no question that he can send them if he wants to do so, as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy.

Whether Congress should limit the number to be sent is a point which may be open to question. However, certainly the President has the power to do so if Congress does not act.

I think he can station troops in a friendly country if such a country asks that the troops be sent and if there is no imminence of attack and if they are stationed there for some possible convenience in repelling a general attack upon the United States itself.

Particularly, it seems to me that the President of the United States may station air forces and may send the Navy to odd places throughout the world, as Presidents have done many times, because the sending of such forces does not necessarily involve or threaten involvement in war. Such forces can be easily withdrawn in case an attack is made upon the country. There is no question about their remaining there and becoming involved in a war.

But it seems clear to me that the sending of troops without authorization by Congress to a country under attack, as was done in Korea, is clearly prohibited.

The European Army

The sending of troops under the Atlantice Pact as a part of a defensive operation against Russia without previous authority from Congress appears to me to be also prohibited, because the fact that these countries are threatened by an actual attack is the very justification and reason for sending the troops. The only reason for sending troops is to defend a country against a threatened military attack which would necessarily involve the United States in war.

The European Army Project, however, goes further than merely sending troops to implement the Atlantic Pact. It involves the sending of troops to an international army similar to that which was contemplated under the United Nations Charter. It is an international army, apparently established by 12 nations, with a commander who is appointed by the 12 nations.

It seems to me perfectly clear that the President's power as Commander in Chief does not extend to the delegation of that power to a commander who is chosen by any other nation or any other group of nations. I think it is perfectly clear that he cannot enter into an agreement of that kind to set up an international army without submitting the agreement to Congress.

Throughout the 1951 debate the Administration tried to avoid this question of setting up an international army, but there can be no doubt that that was in fact the project.

Under that project the President actually appointed General Eisenhower, in a letter in which he stated:

"The North Atlantic Treaty nations have agreed on the defense organization for Europe and at their request I have designated you as supreme allied commander, Europe. I view their request as a pledge that their support of your efforts will be complete and unequivocal."

Exceeded His Authority

When the President of the United States went that far he exceeded his authority.

Apparently the Administration is afraid that there was such an exceeding of authority, for it has represented the whole project now as merely the sending to Europe of a few divisions, which we can withdraw at any moment, but only to co-operate with the other nations in case war comes in a general defense under the terms of the Atlantic Pact.

But whether there is to be an American army or an international army, I do not believe the President has the power without congressional approval to send troops to one country to defend it against a possible or probable attack by another country.

Such action may perhaps be authorized by treaty, but it has not been authorized either by the United Nations Charter or by the Atlantic Pact.

Senate Take a Stand

In my opinion, the Senate resolution and the concurrent resolution adopted by the Senate on April 4, 1951, was a clear statement by the Senate that it has the right to pass on any question of sending troops to Europe to implement the Atlantic Pact, that it is unconstitutional for the President to send any troops abroad to implement that pact without congressional approval, at least until war comes and Article 5 takes effect. It has been said that this resolution is not a law, and, of course, that is true, but the declaration can be implemented by the Appropriatons Committee and by other legislation when legislation becomes appropriate. There can be no doubt that it is a legislative act and that it clearly asserts the power of Congress and the Senate.

No one can prevent the President continuing to assert his power as President, and it may be that he does have the ability to involve the United States in war, even when he has no right to do so; but I think a great forward step in defense of constitutional law has been taken by the definite position now asserted by the Senate.

The President acts at his own peril, if he chooses to usurp authority which the representatives of the people have asserted that he does not possess.

Streamlined London Aim Of Architects

Work Five Years To Produce Huge Master Plan

LONDON, — (UP) — Londoners are to see a new, streamlined London with overhead traffic-ways, vast vistas, underground parking sites and special pedestrian roads, but so far this is only a model made of paper.

"London—an adventure in town planning" is the name given to this architectural exhibition sponsored by the young but influential and fast-growing Institute of Contemporary Arts.

The plan of the new London, which offers a solution of all communications troubles and makes a series of proposals for the rebuilding of the areas bombed during the last war, was shown to the press by Konrad W. Smigielski a professor of the school of architecture, Polish University college

Five Years' Work

Smigielski, his two assistants and 20 students worked for five years to produce a master plan which experts here think remarkable for the harmonious and practical way it solves the great metropolis' growing difficulties.

Besides the Institute of Contemporary Arts, the plan is backed by the two leading British architects and town-planners, Sir Patrick Abercomble and Professor W. G. Holford, whose earlier work it partly utilizes.

Said Ewan Phillips, the director of the institute: "London is becoming uglier and uglier. It can hardly be disputed that no new values are being added to the visual appearance of the metropolis and that the existing values, the historic inheritance are in the process of destruction."

Re-Design West End

The remedies offered by the exhibition include a project by K. A. Kapolka for re-designing the heart of London, the famous West End, by linking Trafalgar Square with Leicester Square by a wide pedestrian avenue and by making Piccadilly Circus a three-level square "with only Eros saved from the present pandemonium of architectural chaos and neon vulgarity."

Other projects show an artists' and night club center, a London Montparnasse, besides the Thames at Chelsea, a new press center on the bombed sites north of the Strand, and a spectacular row of skyscrapers as a foil to St. Paul's Cathedral.

Soho, the quarfed where London's gourmets meet to eat the culinary produce of chefs of many nationalities and where film companies have their offices, is completely rebuilt.

150,000 Flee Flood In Italy, Death Toll 94

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 17—(AP)—Some 150,000 persons were reported fleeing their homes in the Po delta today as Italy's worst floods in half a century continued their death-dealing rampage that already has cost at least 94 lives.

By train, truck and boat, villagers and city dwellers hurried to the safety of the northern countryside.

They fled from this provincial capital of 40,000 shortly after midnight as torrents of water began surging over the streets. Thousands of others were pulling out of some 40 villages which were either engulfed by the flood waters or in immediate danger of inundation.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi took part in the final decision asking Rovigo residents to evacuate the city.

The premier, who stayed in Padua last night, spent all yesterday watching volunteers provide meals and shelter for thousands of refugees pouring in from the stricken area.

AUTO PRICE HIKE SEEN

DETROIT, Nov. 17—(AP)—Another auto price boost apparently is in the making, although it may be some time away. An indication of this was given last night when government price officials in Washington announced that a new order, putting auto makers under the Capehart amendment probably will be issued in about 10 days. The order would give auto manufacturers the right to compute new prices under the amendment.

FBI Nabs Newest Of "Most Wanted"

DENVER, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Raymond Edward Young, listed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as one of the 10 most wanted fugitives in the nation, was arrested in Denver last night.

George Burton, special agent in charge of the Denver FBI office, said the 39-year-old Young offered no resistance and admitted his identity.

Young, wanted in Los Angeles, was arrested in a bakery where he worked nights loading bread on trucks. He told FBI agents he had been in Denver since December of 1948 under the name of Donald Sherman and worked days as a motorcycle messenger for a mortuary.

Burton said Young was wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and was charged in a Los Angeles warrant with burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

Young, a native of Lincoln, Nebr., was listed among the "most wanted" only last Monday. He replaced Morey Vernon King in the "top 10." King, accused of slaying his wife in San Luis Obispo, Calif., in 1947, was picked up at Philadelphia 18 days ago.

Young was held in the Denver city jail today.

Burton said that on Aug. 31, 1948, Young was among 31 men taken from the California state prison at Soledad to help fight a forest fire near Black Mountain, east of San Luis Obispo. He was serving a five-year-to-life sentence for burglary and was known as a model prisoner.

Directors Hear Annual Report of Y Activities

A financial statement of operating costs for the last 12 months at the Marion Y.M.C.A. shows a balance of $282.30, Y officials reported after a meeting of the Board of Directors Wednesday noon at the Y.M.C.A.

The report was approved and accepted by the directors. New officers of the board took over at the Wednesday meeting. They include: A. W. Kette, president; W. Hoover Brown, first vice president; Henry Mickley, second vice president; Charles Harmon, third vice president; Henry A. Krigbaum, recording secretary; W. Leonard Young, financial secretary; Homer Waddell, treasurer; and Arthur L. Haas, general secretary.

Receipts Are $41,500

The financial statement showed receipts for the 12-month period to total $41,500.68 and expenditures were placed at $41,227.29. Biggest single item in the receipts was $20,202 received from the Community Foundation. An additional $12,000 was received in income from the Barlow estate. House operations was the biggest item under the expenditures, totaling $11,467. An additional $10,029 was spent for administration uses. The physical department at the local association spent oly $7,230 during the year.

For the same period in 1950, financial statements showed expenditures totaling $41,201 and receipts totaling $41,703.

A report was given by the committee in charge of the building program during the business session. The committee said a revised application for National Production approval would be filed in Washington within the next 10 days. The NPA early this month turned down a request for immediate approval but indicated approval may be forthcoming during the second quarter of 1952.

Site Nearly Cleared

The entire site of the new building will be cleared within the next few weeks. The new building is to be constructed on East Church St., adjacent to the Marion postoffice.

A committee spokesman said an east-west alley across the property would be posted as private property in the near future and any traffic would travel through the property at its own risk.

OPS Gets Taste of Economics

Supply and Demand Upsets Price Controls

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP)—The control front is humming. The government is rolling back prices here, advancing prices there — but that doesn't necessarily mean much to you in dollars and cents. Businessmen say here's why: supply and demand is ruling most markets now.

The Office of Price Stabilization is rolling back ceiling prices on used cars by six percent below last January's levels. But used car dealers say sales have been lagging, after a brief spurt, and on-the-lot prices are mostly at or below the lower ceiling prices the government suggests. And at the Chicago meeting of the American Finance Conference, credit men are claiming that "government tampering" with auto distribution is getting everything into a snarl.

OPS will let the price on new homes go up. But in Columbus where the National Association of Real Estate Boards is holding its 44th annual convention dealers say that the sale of new homes is dragging in many parts of the country, and in some instances price cutting has been used to get them moving.

* * *

SOME GOVERNMENT officials have talked of the possibility of oil and gasoline rationing if severe winter weather or more unrest in the Middle East upsets distribution. But in Austin, Texas, state authorities say: "We are up to our ears in oil," and plan another cut in the amount of oil the wells of Texas can pump next month.

OPS is still in a big hassle with the meat industry over the price of steaks, roasts and other beef products. But a big grocery chain here advertised steaks well below the ceiling prices—explaining that they can't find enough customers for meat at the higher prices. And at this week's meeting of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, processor after processor called upon the government to drop price controls. As C. G. Pound, president of Kraft Foods Co. put it: "If we would send OPS home and make them leave us alone and not issue scare messages, a halt could be called in inflationary trends."

* * *

THE OPS SIDE of the story is: without controls the cost of eating might go even higher than it is, and inflation next year could make present prices look low.

Steel controls are among the tightest in the whole set-up. But the steel industry, through record expansion and production, "is rapidly building up an impelling case for decontrol," according to "The Iron Age," weekly trade paper. And Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem, the No. 2 steel producer, says: "All I can see is overproduction—and soon."

The government itself is relaxing its controls in several directions to aid businessmen — or because controls appear superfluous.

* * *

SMALL BUSINESSMEN are assured today by OPS that by the end of the month they will get price control relief through provisions of the Capehart amendment to the controls law. This permits most post-Korean operation cost rises to be passed along in higher prices.

Many will welcome this chance to get out of the cost pincers which have squeezed the profits out of their business. But, as in the case of many manufacturers who got this relief earlier this month, price rises will be judged not entirely by controls relief — but rather by the state of the market. If you can't corral a customer with the present price, how can you sell him with a higher one?

Trautman, Chairman

Fund Started for Thorpe

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Ohio State's 1916-17 football teams met last night, talked over old times, and then decided to lend a campaign for an old-time football player none of them had ever faced.

The ancient Bucks adopted a resolution that something should be done to enhance the financial status of Jim Thorpe, the old Carlisle and professional Indian star who was released yesterday from Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia following an operation for a lip cancer.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors), led the way.

"Jim Thorpe is broke," Trautman said. "He's probably the greatest athlete this country ever produced. We should do something for him.

"I'd like to suggest that every person who ever saw Jim play—and who got a kick out of watching him play—contribute a dollar to a fund to get him back on his feet."

And reaching into his pocket, Trautman said:

First Dollar

"Here's the first dollar."

The Ohio State veterans chipped right in, and soon Trautman was holding $30 in his hand. Later, at a press party on the eve of the Illinois-Ohio State game, Trautman broached the idea again. Another $40 was tossed into Trautman's lap by the scribes.

"This could really be something," Trautman said. "If all the folks who saw Jim play would chip in a buck, we'd really have a fund. But who should we name to handle the contributions?"

The response was unanimous. George M. Trautman, 720 East Broad St., Columbus, O., will accept the dollar donations—and see that Thorpe, outstanding athlete of the first half-century, is handed the purse.

Maryland To Meet Vols In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 — (AP)—Maryland will meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl football classic here New Year's day—with or without the Southern Conference's approval.

The Sugar Bowl announced last night that Tennessee, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press' weekly poll, and Maryland, the No. 5 team, had accepted invitations.

Both elevens are undefeated, untied, and many experts claim untested.

Maryland accepted the bid to the Jan 1 game in the face of an anticipated Southern Conference ban on postseason games when conference presidents meet on Dec. 14.

Southern Conference presidents voted 13-1, with three schools abstaining last September, to direct their representatives to "vote (at the December meeting) against giving permission to any member institution to participate in a bowl game this year."

Maryland President Dr. H. C. Byrd said he accepted the invitation without first asking permission of conference members. He said he followed the "pattern of past procedures."

Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade said he was "surprised" that Maryland had accepted the bid without first consulting other members.

Victory Gives Giants Buckeye Loop Title

By A. L. McCLAIN
Marion Star Sports Editor

Harding's spirited Prexies kept pace with the 10th ranking Fremont Ross for three out of four quarters last night, but costly fumbles in the third period proved the difference as the Little Giants won, 32-19.

The victory gave the visitors their first unbeaten season in history and also the Buckeye League title. Harding finished second in the league standings.

The breakaway running of Jerome Surratt and John Lewis offset some fine passing of a wet ball by Tom McClain and three TDs by Harding's Jimmy Russell.

Lewis scored three times—one on an 85-yard runback of a kickoff. The 198-pound smasher had 112 yards by rushing while Surratt accounted for 166.

Score Early

The locals scored first in the opening quarter when Fremont gambled for a first down on the Harding 47 and missed. After a penalty had set the Prexies back to the 40, McClain passed to Russell who caught it on the Ross 25 and dashed to the 9. Russell carried over from the five. The extra point attempt was blocked.

The visitors came back to take the lead as Lewis picked up a wedge of blockers and went 85 yards straight down the middle for a TD. The Little Giants picked up an extra point by recovering a fumble in the end zone.

Harding stormed back with ground plays, moving from the 30 to Ross' 41 where McClain passed to Brady on the Fremont 21. After Doug Bibler, Russell, and McClain plowed to the nine, Russell dashed over. Fremont trailed, 12-7, when the extra point try missed.

38 Yards For TD

Surratt went 38 yards for a score and Tom McCarthy added the extra point to give Fremont a 14-12 halftime lead.

Two successive fumbles after receiving kickoffs set up Lewis' two quick TDs in the third period.

Fremont led 26-12 going into final quarter, but the Prexies fought back to score seven more points when McClain hit Russell with a pass on the Fremont 45 and the speedy Prexy back galloped the remaining distance.

* * *

The loss gave Harding a 5-4-1 record for the season.

The Prexies were visibly disappointed after the game. They had gone into the game firmly convinced they could knock off their bigger opponents.

* * *

Fremont coaches had nothing but praise for the Prexies, admitting the fumbles in the third quarter spelled the difference.

* * *

McClain turned in another fine performance for Harding. His passing of a wet ball was uncanny.

Bob Biggs, 206-pound Fremont guard was a bulwark on defense for the winners.

Steubenville Is Easy Winner

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 17—(AP)—Steubenville's Big Red football team thundered over Weirton, W. Va., 41-0, before 9,000 fans last night to keep the lustre on its rating as the number one team in the state.

The victory was the ninth for Coach Roy Hoyman's Huskies against a lone loss and climaxed the Big Red's most successful season in 16 years.

Steubenville rolled up 445 yards rushing, its greatest total of the season.

Halfback Eddie (Pumpkin) Vincent climaxed three drives with touchdowns. Fullback Benny Bunch scooted 50 and 15 yards for two others and Halfback Rudy Dixon intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for another.

Oklahoma Team Boasts "Dry Gulch" Offensive Formation

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)—Those fancy spread formations have aroused so much interest among football aficionados in the Southwest and midlands that they're cooking up names for the different versions . . . First there's Dutch Meyer's original "frog spread," which the TCU Horned Frogs have used effectively for several seasons . . . Don Pierce, the Kansas U. publicitor, also reports the existence of the "north platte spread"—A mile wide and an inch deep, of course—"the prairie spread," "the two-mile spread" and, what's worrying K. U. Coach Jules Verne Sikes this week, Ears Whitworth's "dry gulch spread" as operated by Oklahoma A. and M. . . . Apparently Sikes hasn't spent much time watching western programs on television. . . . Any kid knows these days that the way to stop those cowpokes is to take the short cut and cut 'em off at the pass.

NEVER AT A LOSS. Notre Dame was taking a real shellacking from Michigan State last Saturday and an Irish rooter in the stands was dying hard. . . . He became louder and more mournful as the game wore on and the score mounted. . . . Finally, late in the contest, Michigan State Quarterback Al Dorow pivoted to trot back into passing position, stepped on his own toes and fell flat with no Notre Dame player within five yards. . . . The Notre Dame fan jumped to his feet: "Boy," he shouted enthusiastically, "now we're tackling."

SPORTSPOURRI. One of the big sporting goods manufacturers is ballyhooing a new model football which is supposedly harder to fumble. No handles on it, either . . . one order, with a $10 check enclosed, was received by the Duke athletic office for no tickets to the Gerry Gerard Memorial basketball game. Attached was a note saying: "Smith Barrier said this should be supported." . . . "Bowl master" Wally Butts is ahead of himself on the 1952 Georgia football schedule. He has them playing in three bowls—Sugar, Gator and Orange—before the season even starts . . . The Quantico Marines squad, which tackles Holy Cross today, has 39 former college players on the roster. . . . After the Rochester Royals took a 19-point licking from Minneapolis in a National Basketball Association game, Boss Les Harrison growled: "I guess my guys thought those world championship emblems on their uniforms were going to scare h— out of them."

Galion, in second place, behind champion Bellevue, placed four men on the "dream team" Bellevue, Shelby and Bucyrus, landed two men each on the first eleven, while Crestline, who ended the season in a tie with Willard for the cellar spot, placed one man on the first squad.

Both Upper Sandusky and Bellevue had three players voted worthy of positions on the second team, while Shelby had two on that squad and Norwalk, Crestline and Willard landed one each.

Choose Hunting To Practicing, Cagers Suspended,

GREENVILLE, O., Nov. 17—(AP)—'Twas basketball practice or rabbit hunting on the first day of the season for 9 members of the Franklin Township cage squad and rabbit hunting won out.

Whereupon Coach Paul Limbert let it be known that the nine varsity players who preferred the fields to the hardwood were henceforth suspended.

Limbert will decide Monday whether they'll be kicked off the team for good.

But all hasn't turned out so badly for the coach yet. Last week the first string varsity lost by 40 points to Wayne, 58-18.

Last night, with a lineup of two freshmen, three sophomores and two juniors, they lost by only one point, 61-60, to Palestine.

Pleasant Nips Johnnies, 53-52

Center Dale Kinsell dropped in a foul shot with only 17 seconds remaining to give Pleasant a 53-52 victory over Johnsville last night on the Johnnies' home court.

Coach Paul Midlam's winning team led, 31-30 at halftime and trailed by two points at the end of the third quarter. Kinsell's 15 points paced the winners. Heflet had 16 for the losers.

Smith Makes It Official Now

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 17—(AP)—Head Football Coach Clyde Smith has made it official that he'll quit at Indiana University when this season is over.

Smith carried out his announced intention when he submitted a letter of resignation yesterday to Athletic Director Paul (Pooch) Harrell.

Smith's formal resignation came on the eve of Indiana's battle with Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 football team in this week's Associated Press poll. Indiana's record thus far is two wins and five losses. The Hoosiers beat Pittsburgh and Ohio State and have lost to Notre Dame, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota.

Face "Umbrella" Defense

Browns Ready For Test Against Giants Sunday

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17—(AP)—The pro football champion Cleveland Browns, in better physical shape than they have been all season, fly to New York today for their "crucial" game against the Giants.

Tommy James, ace defensive half back, is expected to get in tomorrow's game at the Polo Grounds, leaving Tackle John Sandusky the only injured man on the club's bench.

The outing will decide the leader in the National Pro Football League's American division—and possibly the division crown.

So closely have the defensive formations of the two clubs been matched that neither team has beaten the other by more than six points in the four games during the past two years.

Steve Owen, the Giant coach, invented a brand new formation—which he labeled the "umbrella"—to guard against the high scoring passing of Brown Quarterback Otto Graham.

Bottled Up

That kept Graham from throwing a single touchdown pass against the Giants in the three games last year. But the quarterback did toss a pair in the first game this season.

So rugged was the Brown defense in the division playoff last December that the Giants failed to score in 10 straight shots from the Brown three. Penalties made that many attempts possible.

Cleveland, won its first game this season against the Giants by 14-13, and has a record of six wins and a loss. The second place Giants have won five, lost one and tied one.

Standouts defensively for the Browns — besides James — are Guard Bill Willis, End Len Ford and Tackle Chubby Grigg.

The big—and rugged—men in the Giants defense are Tackle Arnie Weinmeister, Guard John Mastrangelo, Tackle Al De Rogatis and Halfback Otto Schnellbacher.

Yankee Ace In Public Appearance For Worthy Cause

ANDOVER, Kas., Nov. 17—(AP)—Allie Reynolds made one of the most important appearances of his career here last night.

The famed pitcher of the world's champion New York Yankees, one of two men ever to pitch two no-hitters in a single season, thrilled nearly 1,000 Andover townspeople at a "Terry McGraw benefit fund" party in the Andover School gymnasium.

Three-year-old Terry McGraw is seriously ill in St. Francis Hospital at Wichita, suffering from a brain disease. He has been in a coma since Aug. 17. His father, John McGraw, of Wichita, is superintendent of schools at Andover, and was a classmate of Reynolds at Oklahoma A. & M. college.

The quiet, modest baseball hero arrived in Wichita this afternoon to assist neighbors and friends of the McGraws in staging the benefit party. Proceeds will be used for hospital and other medical expenses.

The boy was stricken Aug. 18 while he and his parents were in Oklahoma City. Two days later he lapsed into a coma, and, after a month in Mercy Hospital at Oklahoma City, he was brought to Wichita and St. Francis Hospital.

Reynolds told the audience of some of his experiences as pitcher, and presented a baseball, autographed by all the Yankees, which was auctioned off.

DeMarco Wins On Decision

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP) — If you thought Paddy DeMarco was rough with Eddie Chavez last night in Madison Square Garden, wait until he fights Sandy Saddler, the featherweight champ, Dec. 7 at the Garden.

You TV fans ain't seen nothing yet, Bully boy Demarco and Saddler, who still is serving a suspension for his "wrestling" match with Willie Pep, are liable to throw the rule book out the window.

DeMarco bullied 20-year-old Chavez of San Jose, Calif. and wore him down with body blows last night to win a unanimous 10-round decision.

A left hook that looked low at ringside knocked down Chavez for a five-count in the seventh round. Chavez said in his dressing room it was a low blow and Paddy said it wasn't. In any event, he was not penalized.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Honesty Is the Best Policy

A good deal of honesty is creeping into television drama these days and—like the man said—it's the best policy. I know of nothing that searches out phoniness or plot or character quite so relentlessly as a television camera. You can get away with the old malarkey in front of a movie camera or on the radio; you can't on television without causing acute pain to even the most illiterate observers.

John Crosby

The old precept has apparently taken root in the minds of the producers of Lux Video Theater which is one of the most improved programs on the air. When it started, Lux was eating fairly low on the ham, under the impression, I gather, that this fare was substantial enough for radio and that it jolly well was good enough for television. Well, it wasn't, and there has been considerable revision of opinion and a great elevation of taste on Lux this year.

* * *

ONE OF THE more recent Lux dramas was the story of a bank accountant whose irretrievable honesty proves a terrible embarrassment to his personal fortune and to his family. His implacable incorruptibility runs headlong into the general corruptibility of everyone else, including that of his wife, son and daughter, but eventually wins him social and financial redemption. In the process he loses all faith in his family and pretty much everything he had to live for.

While this finish would seem to unsettle the old adage about honesty, it somehow didn't. The bank accountant, beautifully played by Thomas Mitchell, was an imposing figure even in his final emotional torment and the effect of the drama, on the observer, a rare thing in television, was one of great moral uplift. There are so many scoundrels and thieves on television that an honest man, who achieves his victory over the dishonest without the use of gunfire, is an enormously interesting novelty.

The story, by Percival Wilde adapted by Max Shoub, is so essentially simple that I'm surprised it caught anyone's attention, simplicity pretty well eluding the producers of television these days.

Another fairly notable recent drama was the "Studio One" production of "The Hero," starring—of all people—the old magician and comedy dancer Paul Hartman. The story here is considerably more complicated and elaborate, but the play maintained most of its integrity in spite of a little too much plot trickery at the end. "The Hero" (Mr. Hartman) is a man who had mowed down four armed bank bandits 35 years before the play opens. In consequences, the townsfolk of Amity Falls made him a living legend, gave him a house, supported him, and pretty much made a bum out of him.

* * *

FAIRLY EARLY in the thirty-fifth year of this adulation, it becomes evident that Joshua Holcomb hadn't been such a hero after all, that he was actually trying to run away from the banditti and that the killings had been entirely an accident. By this time though, the town has quite a stake in its hero. No other town has one of its own and besides the town's leading industry is "Hero" breakfast food, each package of which bears a likeness of Mr. Holcomb.

There was quite a lot more to the story but the essential ingredient, implicit though never stated, is that a town needs its tradition even though based on badly garbled facts, that a thirty-five year old hoax through sheer age acquires a certain respectability and even dignity. A good many history books, when you come right down to cases, are full of incidents or heroism which are no more valid than that Mr. Holcomb's.

As an actor, Mr. Hartman has a few holes in his repertoire but he managed to make the part of an aging bore and fraud both ingratiating and charming, which was no small feat. "Studio One," out in front for a long time among television dramatic shows, has had a few lapses—as haven't we all—but it still maintains a level of excellence which I find astonishing.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Minor damage to a car driven by Mrs. Kenneth Narrance of 306 Columbia St. was reported when the auto collided with another car on W. Church St. at 9:15 p.m. Friday. The driver of the second car left the scene without reporting his name, police said.

Five Injured In Two Area Accidents

Three Sailors Hurt When Car And Truck Sideswipe

Five persons were injured in two traffic accidents reported today by the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

Three sailors were injured when the car in which they were riding sideswiped a semi-trailer truck west of Crestline on U. S. Route 30-N at 4:45 a. m. today.

They were: Jack Bricker, 18, fractured left arm, and multiple lacerations; Daniel Sennell, 21, severe head lacerations and body abrasions; and Paul Yatsonski, 20, concussion.

In Crestline Hospital

They were taken to Crestline Emergency Hospital. The home towns of the sailors, who were returning to the U. S. Navy receiving station at Norfolk, Va., were not listed.

Bricker was the driver of the car. Marvin Clemmens, 26, of Bettenford, Iowa, was the driver of the truck.

Following the collision, the semi-trailer truck overturned at the side of the road, patrolmen said. The driver was unhurt. Both vehicles were demolished.

Autos Collide

Donald Lane, 21, of near Marengo and Lloyd Russell, 56, of Lorain were slightly injured when the cars they were driving collided as they tried to avoid hitting a car which was attempting to turn around...

The driver of the turning car, which was not involved in the collision, was arrested by patrolmen and charged with unsafe operation. He was Stewart Stapleford, 26, of Columbus. He was taken before Justice Alvin Spriggs at Mt. Gilead where he pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

Both cars were badly damaged in the collision. The injured men were treated at the office of Mt. Gilead physician and released. They suffered minor cuts and bruises, patrolmen said.

Patrol Lists Six Arrests

Six arrests were reported today by state highway patrolmen.

Walter Englebrecht, 53, of Detroit was arrested on U. S. Route 23 at 5 p.m. Friday and charged with speeding. He was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Justice of Peace L. C. Schoenberger.

Howard Ferry, 24, of Detroit was arrested on U. S. Route 23 at 7:30 p.m. Friday and charged with crossing a yellow line. He was fined $5 when he pleaded guilty before Mayor L. E. Klingel of Waldo.

Joel Bennett, 33, of Cleveland and Luther Harrison, 22, of Indianapolis were arrested at 9:45 p.m. Friday on Route 42. They were taken before Mayor Ray Bennington at Cardington and fined $15 and costs each after pleading guilty to speeding charges.

Ralph Bateman, 29, of near Marion was arrested on U. S. Route 23 at 1:55 a.m. and charged with speeding. He was given a citation to appear in Marion Municipal Court Monday.

Thurmond Reed, 38, of Logan, W. Va., was arrested on U. S. Route 23 at 3:35 p.m. Friday and charged with passing without the assured clear distance. He forfeited $25 bond when he failed to appear in Municipal Court.

Communists who had pushed United Nations defenders out of one hill position early Friday pulled back after putting up only light resistance, the Eighth Army reported. Presumably the Reds still hold two other hill positions seized in the Friday attack.

PCA, Land Bank Move

New Quarters On E. Center St.

The Marion Production Credit Association and the Federal Land Bank which have been located in the Dugan building on E. Center St. will be located in new offices at the corner of E. Center and Greenwood St., Marion Clark, secretary-treasurer of Marion Production Credit announced today.

The building has been purchased and remodeled by the two organizations, he reported. The credit association has already moved its office to the new quarters, while the bank will move within a week, Clark said.

The credit association gives credit to farmers on farm produce and land, while the land bank gives loans to farmers for the purchase of real estate. Both were established in 1933. Under the provisions of the law under which they were founded, both are to be owned by farmers who have money invested in them. The land bank became independent of federal aid last year, and the credit association is to become independent next year.

Confident Living

Hold What The Pilgrims Gave Us

—By Norman Vincent Peale—

A COLLEGE sophomore was recently caught in the act of attempting to chip off a piece of Plymouth Rock. He was immediately haled before a judge who indignantly and properly reprimanded him for his lack of reverence for a cherished relic of America's history, a monument to our freedom.

When I recalled the newspaper stories about this, I was thinking about the Pilgrims, in connection with the preparation of my Thanksgiving sermon. And it occurred to me that the young man had done literally what too many of us do figuratively—he had carelessly chipped off a piece of the rock upon which freedom rests.

Dr. Peale

What better time than Thanksgiving to think not only about the Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth but about the freedoms they bequeathed us? They brought to the shores of Massachusetts a fundamental doctrine upon which all freedom rests, a great faith in God. They came with their Bibles tucked under their arms and they never doubted that God is supreme and His principles are the only ones under which any nation can prosper. When we forget this underlying thesis of our democracy, aren't we, in effect, chipping away at Plymouth Rock?

* * *

A FEW YEARS AGO, a friend of mine brought his 9-year-old daughter to New York City to see the sights. She had never been there before and, naturally, she was thrilled by it. The greatest impression was made by the Statue of Liberty. She and her father spent a whole afternoon visiting the statue and climbed to its very top. Then, later, they stood in the stern of a ferry in the afternoon light watching that lovely lady on the island recede. And the father took this opportunity to tell his little girl the story of how the people of France had given us this magnificent statue of Liberty holding aloft her lamp, enlightening the world. Fascinated, the daughter watched the statue as long as she could until they reached the shore.

* * *

THAT NIGHT, the father heard her tossing restlessly in bed. He went into her room, sat down beside her and asked: "What's the trouble, honey? Can't you sleep?"

"No, Daddy," she answered, "there's something bothering me. That lady we saw this afternoon, holding up the lamp, Daddy, it must be awfully dark out there by now and I'm afraid that she needs someone to help her hold up her lamp."

Sometimes children speak more wisely than adults; they have a natural insight into truth. And the greatest Teacher of all told us that unless we had the spirit of a little child we could not enter into His Kingdom.

It is dark out there. And although the lady in New York Harbor is still holding her torch bravely aloft, elsewhere, all over the world, the lamps are going dim, one by one. And, even here, the forces of corruption, greed, dishonesty and immorality are chipping away at the rock on which our freedom rests.

What can we do about it?

* * *

LET US BE thoughtful and interested and concerned. Let us unite to deny an opportunity to those who would destroy our liberties. Let us not be negative; let us see to it that all men and women everywhere have new opportunities for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Above all, let us pray. On Thanksgiving Day, let each of us go to his house of worship and ask earnestly for the blessing of God on our country. And, each and every Sunday, let us do what the Pilgrims did—go into God's house and seek His help in becoming constructive and effective citizens.

Nations are what their people are. People are what their souls are. Our Pilgrim Fathers took from the Bible into their souls the secret of greatness. Let's keep what the Pilgrims gave us.

Among certain South African tribes, a young man must earn his bride by working as a servant for her father.

CHURCH NEWS TOLD IN BRIEF

Reception of new members into Emmanuel Baptist Church will be held Sunday immediately preceding the morning message by the pastor, Dr. C. E. Hershey. Those who have been interviewed by the deacons and pastor will present themselves as candidates. The message will be in keeping with Thanksgiving, presented as a "bouquet of blessings enjoyed by believers."

Members of Maranath Bible Church will hold a Gospel service at the Marion County Jail Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Regular services of the church will include the youth meeting at 6:30. The theme will be "Salvation by Faith." The eighth in a series of 52 sermons "through the Bible" for a year, will be given at evening service. Bible Conference Classes will meet on the new schedule Wednesday night.

Young People of the Northwestern Ohio District, Church of the Brethren, will meet in Marion for an after Thanksgiving youth conference the Saturday and Sunday following. The group of young people of First Church of the Bhethren on Reed Ave., will be host to an expected 200 representatives from various churches of the area, Miss Mary Ann Borland, a member of the planning committee, announced.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, yet shall live" (Romans 8:13).

"Thanksgiving" is the subject of the lesson-sermon on Thursday. It will have for the Golden Text: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto Thy name, O most High" (Psalms 92:1).

Topics for Sunday services have been announced by Rev. Evan R. Owens of Prospect St. Methodist Church. He will preach on a Thanksgiving theme in the morning. The Youth Fellowship discussion at 6:30 p.m., another in a series, will be "Preparing for Marriage." Last week, Rev. Owens attended a denominational conference on Religion and Secularism at Columbus at which leaders of the church, bishops and national figures in fields other than the church gave widely publicized messages.

Final service of an evangelistic meeting at Greenwood EUB Church will be Sunday night. Rev. Harry G. Deeds of Findlay is the evangelist. He will preach at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and at the closing revival service at 7:30. There will be a service tonight with the Rev. Deeds preaching, Rev. R. L. Sutherland, pastor, announced.

An organization of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church meeting next week will be Sunday School Association Tuesday night.

CHURCH HONEYED UP

DURAND, Mich. — (UP) — There's something sweet about the First Methodist Church here. Bees through the years have deposited an estimated ton of honey inside its walls. Because plaster and sheathing would have to be torn out to remove the honey, it hasn't been disturbed.

Why Britain Needs Help

By Raymond Moley

IT IS NEVER easy for Americans to understand the economic problems of Britain. Their national economy is wholly unlike ours. With us, foreign trade is incidental. We could live without it. The United Kingdom would die without it.

In many respects, Britain is like a merchant tailor whose workshop and home are on his premises. The tailor works in the shop with members of his family. He buys cloth from a factory and makes it into suits which he sells. The money that comes in must be used to buy food and materials for his family and business. He has some houses on another street, which he rents. That gives him more income. He also owns a farm in the country, which a farmer works on shares. The tailor takes his share in food and firewood.

MOLEY

Now suppose the tailor meets hard going. His family demands more and works less. His machinery gets old and obsolete. Big factories turn out ready-made clothing and take away many of his customers. His farmer demands a larger share of the produce of the farm. In his distress the tailor sells some of his houses to buy food and materials for his product. His bank balance runs lower and lower. His credit grows worse because his ability to repay loans is weakened.

* * *

THE UNITED KINGDOM has an analogous problem. World competition has narrowed its trade. Many parts of its industrial plant have fallen behind the times. Its workers, drugged by socialist theory and promises, work fewer hours and with less efficiency. It has burdened business with high taxes to support welfare activities, and hence industry has been unable to replace its old machinery and plant. Its transportation system, now nationalized, is behind the times and mismanaged. The coal industry, once produced large exports, cannot supply home needs. Its gold reserves have melted away. Overseas investments have been lost. Since its whole economy depends upon money coming from a surplus of exports over imports, it is now running a huge deficit.

Prime Minister Churchill and Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler at the opening of the new Parliament told the country all the frightening facts about a country which has suffered from six years of socialist experiment and mismanagement. In October the drain on its gold reserves was running at a rate of 1,350 million pounds a year. Since there are only 1,100 million pounds left in that reserve, the nation would face bankruptcy and ruin within a year. That drain in part is caused by an excess of imports over exports, which is called a "deficit in overseas payments," of between 500 and 600 million pounds a year.

* * *

OVERSEAS INVESTMENTS have melted away until only 2,000 million pounds' worth are left. Some of these are in American securities; some in Canadian property. The great oil holdings in the Middle East are in grave peril. The mother country is already heavily in debt to the dominions and former colonies. Not much more help will come from that source.

The credit of the country is in bad shape. The strength of the pound reflects that credit, and it must be sustained or general collapse will take place. This would affect the world generally.

The Socialist government has been in power during most of this decline. Its insistence on putting its experiments first has hastened it. Instead of easing the tax burden, which would permit some improvements in the industrial plant, vast sums were spent for the welfare state. Socialistic local governments spent lavishly. Silly ventures like the African peanut fiasco cost millions. And the threat and then the reality of nationalization paralyzed the coal, transport and steel industries. Thus, the Labor government put the cart before the horse, dividing the wealth before new wealth was created. The result was, as Churchill said, to "share the misery."

That is the problem faced by the new Conservative government. It is clear that they will ask the United States to help. And objections to such aid should be less than they were before, because it cannot be charged now that we are helping socialism. We would be helping the enemies of socialism.

2 More Thefts From Parked Autos Listed

Police today reported thefts from two more parked autos. This is the sixth time in the last 10 days that such thefts have occurred.

Donald F. Miller of 626 Blaine Ave. reported theft of a pair of pants valued at $6 from his car while it was parked on W. Church St. near Harding High School Friday evening.

Police said that the thief also tried to start the car but broke a key off inside the ignition lock.

Pearl Bateman of 133 DeWolfe Ct. reported theft of four hub caps valued at $20 from his car while it was parked in the Palace Theater parking lot last night.

Police Chief Tom Coon warned motorists today to keep valuables out of their cars. He said they should be locked up either in the glove compartment or trunk of the car, and the ignition should be left locked at all times.

The Polonaise, a stately ceremonial dance, dates back to 1573 when Henry, Duke of Anjou, ascended the throne of Poland.

Police, Musical Film Set for Run at Palace

Opening today at the Palace Theater to play through Tuesday is "Detective Story," which depicts and relates an hour-by-hour report of the incidents that take place at a New York police station.

Starred are Kirk Douglas and Eleanor Parker, with William Bendix, Lee Grant, Horace McMahon and Luis Van Rooten in principal supporting roles.

Practically the entire action of the film takes place in the 21st Manhattan precinct and concerns the detective squad of that precinct along with lawbreakers and the methods used to capture them. Dealt with in Detective Story" are thieves, a shoplifter, a young boy who stole for the first time, hardened vicious criminals, an abortionist and others.

Kirk Douglas is seen as the sort of detective who is driven by a psychopathic desire to destroy anybody who brushes with the law, not matter how minor the offense.

"Two Tickets to Broadway" starring Tony Martin and Janet Leigh has been billed for Wednesday through Saturday. Heading the supporting cast are Gloria DeHaven, Ann Miller, Eddie Bracken, Barbara Lawrence and the comedy team of Joe Smith and Charles Dale. It is in technicolor.

A musical comedy, "Two Tickets to Broadway" tells the story about a small town girl who finds love, success andexcitement on Broadway, through television. As she leaves Pelican Falls, Vermont, for Broadway, Janet is given a rousing send-off. She runs into a group of showgirls fresh out of a job, and later meets Tony Martin. Bracken, as an agent, invents a TV job to get Martin and the girls to build a routine. Eventually, they get the job and Janet is the heroine of both Martin and Pelican Falls.

"The Desert Fox," Story Of Rommel, at Ohio

"The Desert Fox," dramatic story of the man who defied Hitler, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, currently is playing through Tuesday at the New Ohio Theater.

Starring James Mason in the title role, "The Desert Fox," is based on a best-selling biography by Brigadier Desmond Young and recounts the fabulous career of Rommel from theNorth African campaign to his untimely end in Germany.

In telling the story of the career of Rommel, the film shows the downfall of an army at the battle of El Alamein and eventually the mental disintegration of Hitler, the collapse of the German armies before the merciless pounding of General Eisenhower's Allied forces, and the fall of the nation. It reveals much of the behind-the-scenes scheming of the German generals who tried to get rid of Hitler and of the ruthless purging which followed the attempt to kill him.

Playing principal supporting roles are Cedric Hardwicke, Luther Adler, Everett Sloane, Leo G. Carroll, George Macready, Richard Boone and Eduard Franz.

Starting Wednesday will be a new technicolor musical, "Golden Girl," starring Mitzi Gaynor, Dale Robertson, Dennis Day and James Barton.

The film is set in the Gold Rush days and tells in song and story the life and times of the famed entertainer of that period, Lotta Crabtree. It relates how she captured the hearts of the mining camps and swept triumphantly to New York to storm the heights of fame.

JAMES MASON IS STARRED as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, the commander of the Afrika Korps who became a legend in his own lifetime, in the production, "The Desert Fox," which now is playing through Tuesday at the New Ohio Theater.

John Wayne on Bill At Marion Tomorrow

"Rio Grande" starring John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, and "Valley of Fire" with Gene Autry and his famous horse, Champion, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

Lon Chaney is starred in both, with Sir Cerdic Hardwicke, Ralph Bellamy, Lionel Atwill, Bela Lugosi, Evelyn Ankers and Janet Ann Gallow supporting him in the former, and Louise Albritton, Robert Paige, Evelyn Ankers, Frank Craven and J. Edward Bromberg heading the supporting cast in the latter.

In "The Ghost of Frankenstein," Hardwicke as Dr. Frankenstein, attempts to perform a daring operation to give the Monster a sane mind and transform the creature into an instrument of good rather than evil. Instead, the Monster becomes more of a man-killer than ever before, and Frankenstein learns that he has been mistaken in hiding the Monster from police while attempting the new miracle in surgery.

"Son of Dracula" deals with the ghoulish activities of a descendant of the "vampire" man. Chaney portrays a 'wierd character, a creature which lived only by night and can assume the form of a bat, a werewolf or a wisp of vapor.

Thursday through Saturday, the billing will be "That's My Boy," a comedy film with a football theme starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, and "Bonanza Town" starring Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette.

In the latter, Starrett plays a government agent who sets out to capture a criminal in hiding, enlisting the aid of Burnette.

"Follies" Plays To Second Full House

Just how much the guild will realize on the two performances can not be estimated at this time as ticket reports remain to be checked and expenses balanced, Mrs. R. A. Bagley, chairman of the ticket committee said today

This farm is one of Madison County's best. It is well fenced, well drained, all under cultivation except 20 acres which has a few scattered oak trees and could be cleared and cultivated. The land has been well cared for, having been limed recently and manured regularly. IMPROVED with large brick modern home with double garage attached. Good feed type barn and six cow stanchions. Hog barn with concrete floor. Corn cribs and other buildings. Churches Plan Thanksgiving Services

Thanksgiving Sunday with special sermons, music of praise, and thankofferings in some churches, will be observed tomorrow by Marion congregations.

Annual Thanksgiving Day service sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial Assn. will be Thursday morning at Prospect Street Methodist Church with a guest speaker, Rev. Wallace E. Hainer of Florida, world traveler and evangelist. Meetings of church organizations during the week will be based on the thought of gratitude to God for many blessings.

Celebration of a High Mass of Thanksgiving and prayers for peace at St. Mary Catholic Church will be at 8:15 a.m. Thursday.

An 8 a.m. service at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Thanksgiving Day has been arranged to precede and avoid conflict with the union community service.

Annual Thanksgiving service of the Christian Science congregation at the church will be at 11 a.m.

The usual Thanksgiving Eve service of Emanuel Lutheran Church will be Wednesday at 7:30.

Pastors are urging people to begin Thanksgiving Day the annual Worldwide Bible Reading, Thanksgiving to Christmas, which is stressed in Marion as a phase of the local Religion in American Life campaign. The theme for this year's Bible reading project, an emphasis of the American Bible Society, is "The Way Out of the Dark." This idea, launched eight years ago, is to have people everywhere read identical passages of Scriptures daily throughout the period.

Special Services

Besides observance in the way of sermons some churches have announced special features in services and meetings.

At Epworth Methodist Church in the morning, a servide of worship will be conducted by Junior Church members, and young people of the congregation. Prelude will be by John Chency, organist, followed by Thanksgiving hymn and Junior Church processional.

Scripture will be read by Mrs George Pluchel. For the worship period, reading of Psalm 100 will be led by Jack Waddell and Roger Stafford. The Chapel Choir, directed by Miss Virginia Grover, will sing. Mrs. George Wilson is pianist. A choral speaking number will be presented with Leah Mae Jones and Lynn Greetham as soloists. Following the adult anthem, there will be Junior Church recessional. The pastor will preach. Reception of new members will be included in the service. Junior Church theme will be "Thankful Hearts."

E and R Church Service

First Evangelical and Reformed Church Women's Guild has arranged annual thankoffering service for morning worship hour. Mrs. Francis Reardon and Mrs. Marguerite Flach are co-chairmen. Taking part will be Mrs. Don Flach who will give the call to worship, Mrs. Marguerite Flach, Scripture, and Miss Florence Hayman who will sing. The choir, directed by Mrs. Clara Belle Sinning, organist, will sing "Accept Our Thanks." The pastor will preach.

Climax of the service will come when women of the church will bring to the altar for consecration thankoffering boxes. These will contain contributions made from time to time throughout the year "in gratitude for divine blessings."

In the afternoon, Calvary EUB Youth Fellowship will have a thankoffering meeting at the Parish House with a guest speaker, Dr. O. O. Arnold, denominational publications editor who will be present for morning and evening services of the church.

(Turn to THANKSGIVING, Pg. 3)

Lead On, O King Eternal

A hymn that was written by two young men

Henry Smart's father was a violinist and pianomaker and he knew every musician in London. Perhaps that's why the elder Smart put his musically inclined son in law school. But Henry wanted no part of law. He quit school. Young Henry Smart wanted to be a musician and he meant to be just that.

Except for a few lessons by a sympathetic London violinist, Henry Smart trained himself. He studied so hard that by the time he was 23 he had done two things that were to affect the rest of his life. He composed a tune which he called "Lancashire" for the celebration of the 300th anniversary of The Reformation and he ruined his eyesight.

"Lancashire" was picked up from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand and set to words of many a poem, including Bishop Reginald Heber's "From Greenland's Icy Mountains." The boys at Andover Theological Seminary in Massachusetts were singing the tune in 1888 when they asked their poetically inclined classmate, Ernest Shurtleff, to write a graduation song just for their class. Shurtleff was 26 years old, had graduated from Harvard and was making a niche for himself in the literary world when he came to Andover to study for the Congregational ministry. He wrote the song for his class just to sing while marching in a body to the ceremony where they were to get their diplomas. And the tune Shurtleff borrowed for his verses was "Lancashire" which Henry Smart had written 53 years before.

After serving churches in California, Minnesota and Massachusetts, Ernest Shurtleff went to Germany where he established the American church at Frankfort, did relief work during World War I and died in Paris in 1917. When Henry Smart died at the age of 66 in 1879 he was the greatest conductor in England. He had reached his goal, but he was totally blind. And, like Ernest Shurtleff, Henry Smart is remembered best for a job he did while still a young man. But, strange, neither poet nor composer had any idea of writing a church hymn.

Lead on, O King Eternal,
The day of march has come
Henceforth in fields of conquest
Thy tents shall be our home,
Thro' days of preparation
Thy grace has made us strong.
And now, O King Eternal,
We lift our battle song.

Lead on, O King Eternal,
Till sin's fierce war shall cease,
And holiness shall whisper
The sweet Amen of peace;

For not with swords loud clashing,
Nor roll of stirring drums;
With deeds of love and mercy,
The heavenly kingdom comes.

Lead on, O King Eternal,
We follow, not with fears,
For gladness breaks like morning
Whene'er Thy face appears;
Thy cross is lifted o'er us;
We journey in its light;
The crown awaits the conquest;
Lead on, O God of might.

Installation Service Set For New Forest Lawn Pastor

The Rev. Floyd E. Kline, new pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church, will be installed officially at a service Sunday night. Various ministers from throughout Marion Presbytery will take part.

In charge will be the Rev. Alan O. Jones of Bellefontaine, moderator of the Presbytery, and he will give the invocation. Scripture reading will be by the Rev. Cecil C. Bailey of Belle Center.

Dr. George A. Johnson of Bucyrus will give the sermon, and the Rev. Jones will conduct the installation. A "charge to the pastor" will be given by the Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins of Columbus, and "charge to the congregation" by Dr. Harry G. Finney of Delaware. The new pastor will have charge of the service in the morning.

He came to Marion from Napoleon, O., and has served previous pastorates at Oklahoma City, Okla., Bloomington, Ind., where he was University pastor of Indiana University, Plymouth, Ind., and Lowville, N. Y.

A graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, O., with A.B. and A.M. degrees, he was graduated also from Union Theological Seminary in New York City with B.D. degree and the seminary's Diploma in the Pastorate. His wife studied at Oberlin and at Wooster College.

At Napoleon, he was president of the Minister's Assn., and of Kiwanis Club, and was active in civic affairs.

The Klines have moved to the Forest Lawn manse at 160 Kenmore Ave. They have three children including a married daughter at Bedford, O., a son in New York University, and a daughter in Reserve University in New York.

REV. FLOYD E. KLINE

Jr. O.U.A.M. Deputy Councilors Named

Confession?—Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God, it must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained." (John 20:21-23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judged the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for a free pamphlet which gives important information concerning them. Ask for Pamphlet No. 5-N.

Tomorrow or the following Sunday at various churches, a representative from the local committee will vist Sunday School assembly periods to speak in behalf of the campaign and continued high church attendance throughout the year.

Attention was called by Dr. G. G. Nuetzel, a RIAL co-chairman, to a window display which illustrates the idea of directing thought to religion by the symbol of the church. A small replica church, made by Walter Dodrill of 852 N. Prospect St. some time ago is shown in the window of the Baller-Jones Insurance and Jones-Metz Real Estate offices at 189 E. Center St. Such model work is a hobby of Mr. Dodrill, and this particular piece has been on display in Cincinnati and Columbus.

It Is Free

A Sermonette

By REV. HOWARD L. OLEWILER
Pastor of First Presbyterian Church

"Great is the Lord and greatly to be praised."—Psalm 145:3.

* * *

THE observance of Thanksgiving did not originate with the Pilgrims on the coast of New England. It has been in existence from the beginning of time. The Peace Offering in the Old Testament is somewhat similar to our Thanksgiving. Families in the Old Testament demonstrated their rejoicings of God's kind providence by gathering together in festive spirit. The gathering always culminated with a huge banquet. Therefore Tranksgiving is not strictly an American institution. Greeks and the Romans set aside days for harvest festival. Through the centuries nations stopped to celebrate a victory or some good that came into their midst. The Pilgrims were giving expression to an old custom which has come down through the years.

Thanksgiving does not always depend upon plenty or prosperity. For what am I to be thankful? Adversity, loneliness, bereavement, a heavy cross, or a burden which will not roll away. Why should I be grateful? In many instances, days of Thanksgiving have been associated with periods of hardship and ill fortune. Thinned by sickness, the prospects of that little colony of 102 Pilgrims were far from encouraging, yet they proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving. Liberty seemed hopeless, the Continental army was in desperate straits for food and clothing yet they saw fit to praise God for Divine Providence. Brother fighting brother, the hope of a united people seemed frustrated yet President Lincoln found cause for public expression of gratitude for blessings enjoyed. During World War I a whole nation remembered God in deep appreciation of Divine favor. Thanksgiving does not depend upon prosperity, ease or peace.

* * *

FROM THE BEGINNING, men with sensitive souls have recognized the loving hand of God in the yearly recurring harvest. They looked upon the Divine Husbandman as attending to all the steps of the process needed for the great ingathering. He waters the soil; He takes charge of the germinating seed; His sunshine plays upon the tender green blade. "There is no power but of God" is the final word of religion and philosophy. Underneath fertile earth is the mysterious quickening of God. By His gift the earth yields her increase.

With humble hearts we bow down and praise His name, especially when we realize that we did not fashion one blade of grass. We did not exert one ounce of energy. We were born, we opened our eyes and it was there—grass, energy and nature bestowed upon us as a gift of His love. We had nothing to do with the living energy that is stored up in the soil and green herbage. God's Hand moves the changing seasons. God controls the solar system which is the base of our existence. He crowns each year with bud and fruit. Sometimes we have mishandled the fruits of nature, consequently some have too much and some too little. However that is not the fault of nature or God. Our gratitude should be boundless and all earth praise God whose providence blesses us with the fruit of the land without interruption.

OUR GOD IS unlike other gods. Our God comes to us. He seeks us. He does not wait for us to seek Him. He sends prophets, teachers and preachers. Finally He sent His only begotten Son to search for the lost. Other gods must be bought. They must be won with gifts and he who offers no gift to his god—a gift pleasing to his god, is lost and cast into outer darkness. Our God does the buying. We do not buy salvation. God through His Son has bought it for us and offers it to sinners as a gift. Once more we did not put forth an iota of energy toward our salvation. God and Christ worked out this Bread of Life in the eternal councils of Heaven. All we need do is accept this Bread of saving grace as a glad and glorious gift.

With humility we offer our thankful prayers, for in Christ is a love that lays down its life that we may live. We cannot force this love, nor compel it. There it is. We cannot enlarge it, nor destroy it. We cannot buy it, we do not earn it. It is there in all of its beauty and richness to be given freely to those who will receive it in sincere confession. The gospel of the New Testament throbs and thrills with the glad thought that the love of Christ is a gift.

* * *

IN JOYFUL SONG praise God from whom all blessings flow and fail not to appreciate the benefits we get for nothing. We must be ever mindful that the greatest basic values of life are ours without cost. Because they are so cheap there is a tendency to overlook their importance and neglect the spirit of gratitude.

"Let us rejoice and be glad; in season and out of season; in joy and sorrow; in sickness and health; let us rejoice and be glad. For God is love and that love will never fail us". It is free.

Thomas Harbaugh of Casstown, began to write Nick Carter stories in the 1880's.

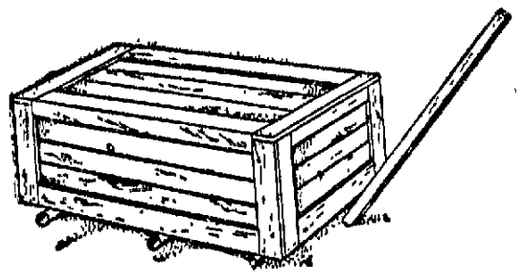
Tricks of the Rigger for Heavy Hauls

The average homeowner in the hard school of experience manages to acquire a fairly good education in how to handle a growing number of different emergencies, repairs and similar situations, but occasionally he is confronted with a problem involving something about which he knows nothing. One of these unusual items he comes up against might well be how to handle something which weighs several hundred pounds, more than he can handle. And yet he must move it to where he needs it.

The professional heavy-object-mover is known as a "rigger," and so skilled do these men become in handling heavy objects and getting them in places where they belong, that their feats sometimes appear fantastic. We have seen one man with a rigger move a two-ton boiler off a truck, across a sidewalk and down a flight of stairs single-handed.

When it comes to lifting weight, a block and fall is the answer, but for ordinary moving from one place to another, the rigger uses three rollers and a lever. Short pieces of one-inch or inch-and-a-half plain pipe make the best rollers in the world. A five-foot piece of tough 2x2 or 2x4 wood make an excellent lever. With these elementary tools you can move anything. But at all times keep the children out of range, particularly in your first attempt as a rigger.

Two rollers are no good and four rollers are necessary. Three rollers are used so that, after the object is rolled ahead so that it passes over the last roller, said roller is moved up ahead of the object and comes into use again. By prying ahead with a lever as shown, the heaviest of objects can be inched along by a small boy. When you want to change the direction in which you are moving an objet, you turn the first roller in that direction as you would steer the front wheels of a car, and by manipulating the lever, you can set the object wherever you want it.



In doing all kinds of work there is a cardinal self-safety rule. In roof work this rule is never to stand erect, but to work around on hands and knees. In doing rigging work, the cardinal rule is never to get your fingers or hands under the object you are moving.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Drafty Floors

Q.: We have a basementless house and our hardwood floors were very drafty in cold weather. There is a two to three-foot space under the house with six openings in the foundation walls. Can you suggest how we could insulate underneath the house?

A.: The floor can be made comfortable by placing a moisture-proof blanket or batt type of insulation between floor joists. If the insulation has a vaporproof covering, the covering should be faced toward the rooms above. To keep moisture out of the insulated area, cover the joists with asphalt saturated roof felt.

* * *

Wallpaper Paste Stains

Q.: What, if anything, can be done to remove stains made by paste on wallpaper?

A.: If the paper is of the washable variety it should not be difficult to wipe off the paste with a damp cloth. However, it is more difficult to wipe the paste off non-washable papers because the colors might "run" or smear. You might try sponging lightly with a damp cloth, in other words, just daub the spots without rubbing. If this procedure causes smears I am afraid the paste will have to remain. In the future when doing such work it is best to wipe off the paste as soon as possible before it has had a chance to dry.

Porch Floor Leaks

Q.: Four years ago I had a porch built on the side of my house. It is an open porch with a roof over it. A carpenter told me that the reason the porch floor leaks is that the floorboards used were intended for indoor use and not outdoors. I have had it puttied many times and painted but I cannot keep water out of the cellar. What can I do to overcome this condition?

A.: Wood shrinks and swells according to atmospheric conditions, therefore there is nothing you can do to the floorboards to prevent this movement, which loosens putty. You can, however, cover the floor with a roofing canvas. This is becoming scarce because of war demands. If your roofer cannot supply and install it at present, he can put down an asphalt cap sheet of a heavy weight. When roofing canvas becomes available, he can take up the cap sheet and put down the canvas.

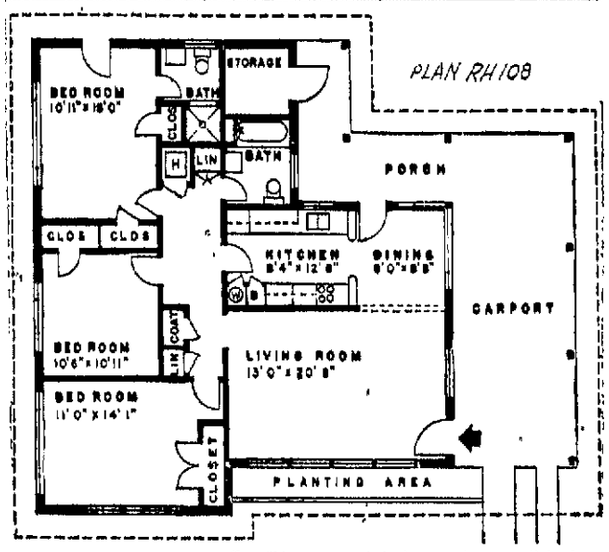
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



CONTEMPORARY IN STYLE without being extreme, this house shows the trend in the southwest. Plan RH-108, it was designed by Roy F. Flesh, architect, 41 West Jefferson St., Phoenix, Ariz. Sponsored by the Southwest Research Institute, it features quality details in its construction. The glass wall in the front of the living room is shaded by a four-foot overhang. The exterior is faced with painted pumice cement blocks. Grouping of the two baths, heater closet and kitchen economizes on plumbing. Exclusive of carport and porch the house covers about 1,300 square feet.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

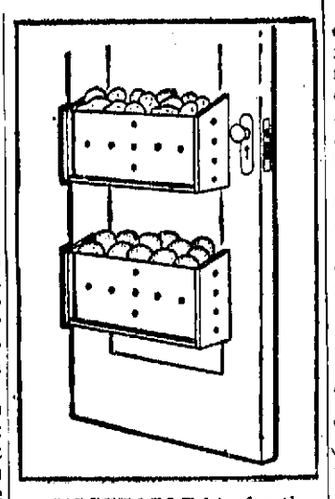
MUCH OF THE FUN of living in a house comes from the endless accumulation of jobs to be done—things you can fix yourself and make for yourself.

Old hands seldom stop to think of this—the routine's in their blood. But if they ever had to live in a swanky apartment hotel they'd probably sneak to the basement for a workout.

After sweating and worrying all summer over the yard and garden, with resolutions to do better next year, the householder now bargos into the indoor season with a brave vow to finish all jobs left over from last winter.

He's goin to shellac the insides and edges of dresser drawers that stuck in humid weather. He'll get around to fixing that squeak in the floor and paint the whole basement, among other important jobs. But first, if he's human, he'll probably start making something more or less unimportant —a bird house, no doubt.

Well, you can't blame him. There are so many nifty materials at well-stocked lumber supply houses that it seems any dub can be a cabinet maker. And far from being designed for useless jim-crhcks, they make it easy to panel a room in fine hardwood, refinish a bathroom or kitchen in simulated tile—or to build a doll house for daughter, if you insist.



A VEGETABLE bin for the back of a kitchen-cellar door or closet door is easy to build with modern hardboards. Framing is 1x6-inch lumber. Cut holes for ventilation. Front board can be slipped out for cleaning.

VARIOUS PLYWOODS, hardwood veneers, predecorated panelboard, color-impregnated woods, and several pressed hardboards that can be bent for round corners are some of the materials you can do surprising jobs with.

For instance, there's a (Masonite) hardboard called leatherwood that has a patterned finish similar to Spanish-grained leather. It gives a bench or recreation room walls the warm appearance of being leather covered.

Another is a black tempered hardwood, dyed in its manufacture to give a permanent glossy surface to countertops, kitchen kick-strips and baseboards.

Fabricated hardboards, incidentally, are one of the most interesting products of modern industry. They are made entirely of wood fibers, yet have no grain to split or splinter. Wood chips are exploded under high pressure steam into a mass of ligno-cellulose fibers. This mass is felted into thin mats and compressed under heat. The natural lignin of the wood binds the fibers without addition of artificial binders.

Because of their composition, hardboards can be worked with all woodworking tools. You can nail them, glue them, paint them, or give them any finish that wood takes.

TEMPERED pressed woods, ⅛-thick, can be bent cold on a 9-inch radius with the smooth side out, or on a 6-inch radius with the smooth side in. Sharper bends can be made by soaking the board or by using heat. Regular tables have been compiled for the minimum bends possible for all thicknesses.

These various thin materials open new fields for the amateur craftsman. Paneled furniture, folding screens, novel finishes, all come within his reach. Virtually all plywoods and hardboard are available in ready-cut panel sizes that range from 4x1 feet to 4x12.

Predecorated panelboards can be found under a vriety of trade names at building supply dealers. These materials have baked-on enamel finishes that make them a natural for kitchen walls, cabinets or wainscoting. They wipe off as neatly as a refrigerator.

Morral Class Makes Church Contribution

The Home Builders Class of the Morral Methodist Church gave a contribution of money toward the papering of the church and also voted to give $10 for the cleaning fund at a meeting Wednesday night, Nov. 14, at the home of Mrs. Harry Hall, west of Morral. Individual contributions toward the papering were made by Mrs. J. H. Bardon, who was ill, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall. It was decided by the class to give the money which would be used for a Christmas gift exchange toward the church building fund project.

The class song by the group, scripture from the 136th Psalm read by Mrs. Mary Wood, and prayer offered by Mrs. Wilson Massie opened the meeting. Scripture verses were given by the members in response to roll call, and the birthday anniversaries of two members, Mrs. W. W. Morral and Mrs. Kay Miller, were honored. Cards signed by the group were sent to three members who are ill, Mrs. J. T. Lucas, Mrs. Chester Hilborn and Mrs. J. H. Bardon.

Included in the program were a song by the group and readings by Mrs. Kay Miller, Mrs. Darius Washburn, Mrs. L. E. Neal, Mrs. Vay Borland, Mrs. Wilson Massie, Mrs. William Hughes, Mrs. Frank Haner, Mrs. W. W. Morral, Mrs. Hiram Baker and Mrs. Wade Wright. Contests, conducted by Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Hughes, were won by Mrs. W. W. Morral and Inez Pemberton. Hostess for the December meeting will be Mrs. Wilson Massie.

BAPTIST SERVICES SET

MARYSVILLE — Rev. Paul Christensen of Ironton is conducting the "Fishers of Men" services for Baptist Churches of the vicinity in the First Baptist Church at Richwood. The services, which close Nov. 25, have been attended by Baptists from Marion, Delaware, Logan and Hardin County churches in the area, as well as Union County members.

HEY, NOW! TAKE IT EASY. Melkor the Monkey, sent to Oklahoma City, from Brownsville, Tex., by plane to become the pet of Cpl. Melvin Hough, 24, wounded Korean war veteran, was posed by a photographer on his arrival at Oklahoma City. The soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hough of Norman, Okla., will take the Brazilian albino monkey to Camp Chaffee, Ark., where their son is recuperating. Army regulations do not permit animals in a hospital and the soldier may have to wait to get acquainted with his new buddy.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

I looked up at Dicky as he gave me his parting injunction, and I knew that he recognized the uneasiness in my eyes when he gave me a little reassuring pat on the shoulder.

"No new cause for alarm," he said. "I pledge you my word on that. "It's just that we've all got to be on our toes every second, until this unholy mess is cleaned up. When you get back Lil can announce with a suitably fatigued air that she's just finished her work, and is going to lie down for a few minutes."

"A good plan," I told him, "and I'll tell her everything you've said."

"Okay, and good-bye again," he told me. 'I'll report to you over the unlisted telephone in code, just as soon as I've had my session with Bill."

"Good hunting!" I told him as he started for the elevator. Then I went back into the suite, to find the two girls absent. Lillian answered my questioning eyebrows.

"They've gone to get their hats and coats," she said.

"Then please come with me to get mine," I told her. "I have a message for you and Harry from my spouse. You can relay it to Harry after I'm gone."

I started for the door, and she rose and followed me, catching up with me as I reached the corridor. I saw with satisfaction that the girls were still in their bedroom, and stopped short, speaking quickly, but with my voice lowered.

"Dicky doesn't want you or Harry to leave the suite until after I get back," I said, then added Dicky's suggestion about what she should say to the girls after our return to the hotel.

"I'll follow every one of his injunctions me-tic-u-lous-ly," she said, spacing the syllables in ridiculous fashion. "And now I'll give you one. When you telephone —rather, if you do—use the unlisted telephone. I might have some 'hush hush' message for you."

I looked at her with sudden alertness.

"You mean Carlotta Carroll?" I asked.

"Of course," she countered, "I have a hunch we'll be hearing from her any minute now."

"I have a hunch you're right," I told her. "And I'll remember about the unlisted phone. Now, I must hurry. Will you come along down, or go back to the living room?"

"The latter," she said promptly. "No use letting the girls get ideas about our being in conference. So door closes. Don't slam it!" she I'll wait here until your bedroom added with a gamin grin, and I wrinkled my nose at her as I turned and hurried down to Dicky's room.

Once there, I sat down, and tied up my nerve ends, for I was not completely at ease about Dicky's assurance that he had no new reason for wishing Lillian and Harry to stick to the apartment while I was gone on the shopping trip. From experience, I have learned that my husband, when he thinks it expedient, can "tell a good one," with a completely guileless and believable face.

I did not "delay the game" appreciably, however, and when I returned to the living room, completely equipped for the trip, I found the two girls also ready. We bade the Underwoods au revoir, and went down to the street. But when the elevator stopped at the first floor, I saw Bess Conway give a startled glance into the corridor, and then, stepping behind me, she spoke imperatively—we were the only passengers.

"Please take us up again, immediately," she told the operator. "I am ill."

As in former years the lodge will provide holiday gifts for less fortunate families in the city. Contributions of canned food, clothing, etc., may be taken to the office of the secretary at the lodge hall, it was announced.

The monthly fish fry will be held Friday, Nov. 30, it was announced.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (UP)— The Daytona Beach civil service board has amended its rules to permit men with false teeth to work in the city police and fire departments. The change was proposed by board member George Upchurch, who wears an upper plate himself.

Shoes can be kept fresh and airy by wiping the linings with a cloth wrung out of soapy water. This prolongs lining life by preventing perspiration damage.

Green Camp Board Confers On School Plans

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP—Four members of the Green Camp Board of Education, Milton S. Ruth, Beaver Bricker, Frank Dennison, and Robert Uncapher, spent Monday in Columbus conferring with the firm of Sims,Cornelius and Schooley, architects of the new grade school building. They were accompanied by Supervising Principal N. C. Roettiger, Clerk G. W. Sorreles and Carl G. Seiter and Ivan Reynolds, nely-elected members of the board.

The method of procedure was discussed and the board and architects went over the tentative plans. Several suggestions were made, to be incorporated in the detailed drawings which will be submitted to the board in about three months for further correction or approval.

It was decided that the two-unit boiler system be automatically stoker coal fired, with a quick conversion to gas when that fuel becomes available. Each room in the building will have a unit control and will use at least 25 per cent fresh air in the circulating system. It was decided to cut down on blackboard space and provide more display space for the pupils' work.

The auditorium-gymnasium will be 16 feet to the girders at the sides and 18 feet in the center. This bowed steel structure will be sealed to improve the acoustic and incandescent lighting will be used. Fluorescent lighting will be in the class rooms. Application for needed materials will probably be applied for during the first quarter of 1952.

Charlton Myers, the board's attorney, announced that the $295,000 bond issue probably will be offered for sale around Jan. 1.

The architects hope to have the masonry work done and the building under cover by next fall.

On the State of Mr. Truman

THE word from Key West is that a vacationing Chief Executive is writing his State-of-the-Union Message between naps and peppering it with a strident demand for the Fair Deal.

If that were to happen—if Mr. Truman were to go before Congress next January with a slam-bang message on his controversial opinions about such things as states' rights and federalized medical care—the cat would be out of the bag.

It would be as evident as anything could be in politics that Mr. Truman had made up his mind to run for the Presidency in 1952. The Fair Deal is his program.

He would force it on the Democratic party's majorities in the House and Senate only on the assumption that he would use it in the 1952 campaign as the nucleus of a party platform.

No other Democrat who might run for the nomination and no person who might become a Democrat for that purpose could accept the Fair Deal program without acute embarrassment.

It calls for federal aid to education, higher unemployment compensation, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, the Brannan farm plan, passage of a civil rights program over the opposition of the Democratic South, wide extensions of public power including the St. Lawrence project and a Columbia Valley administration, a strengthening of the Sherman anti-trust act, expansion of foreign aid programs, statehood for Alaska and Hawaii and compulsory health insurance. It also calls for continuation of rent control, additional tax revenue, extension of the draft and expansion of the social security system.

While the program is subject to its author's revisions without notice, it is to be expected that its civil rights sections, Taft-Hartley repeal, compulsory health insurance, Brannan plan and public-power sections would be retained.

Otherwise, Mr. Truman would be in the ludicrous position of reneging on his own principles.

In his message to Congress last January, the Fair Deal was omitted. Mr. Truman explained that national defense had priority over everything else. The most recent outline of the Fair Deal was sketched in the message of 1950. The phrase "Fair Deal" was first used in Mr. Truman's State-of-the-Union Message in 1949. It contained recommendations for fulfilling virtually every promise he had made during his election campaign in 1948 and was viewed abroad as strong evidence that the United States was veering in the same direction as British socialism.

A Job No One Wants

ERIC JOHNSTON has resigned as chief of economic stabilization agency under circumstances which will make it very hard to find a successor. He is leaving a job no one wants.

Mr. Johnston will go back to his private position in the moving picture industry with a festoon of dead cats around his neck. What he regarded as a patriotic duty earned for him nothing but the dubious distinction of being charged with various forms of un-Americanism by a number of his fellow citizens who disagreed violently with everything he did while agreeing enthusiastically that he was just the man to be doing it. Only Charles E. Wilson, director of economic mobilization, has been given rougher treatment.

The thing which broke Mr. Johnston's back and may have dented his courage was the prospect of presiding over the next round of wage increases, to be set off in the near future by United Steelworkers.

This union says it intends to break what is left of wage stabilization into little pieces—and it can do it. CIO representatives on the united labor policy committee, which was Mr. Johnston's method of trying to appease organized labor when he first tried to stabilize wages, showed themselves to be irreconcilable from the start.

Men like Mr. Johnston give up their privacy and sometimes their incomes to tackle seemingly impossible jobs in the United States government. Occasionally the jobs are impossible in fact.

Stabilizing wages against the opposition of labor unions has proved to be an impossible job.

From a Passerby

THIS doggerelagram was tapped out inexpertly by an unknown passerby on an unguarded office typewriter. It was inspired, obviously, by the growing preoccupation with politics as 1952 approaches.

Leave us not be over-critical of all the stuff that is political—but summon courage to admit that we're responsible for it. Let's just put up some awful hollers when spenders throw away our dollars—and worry, fret and wonder why we ever voted for "that guy."

Let's try to laugh with casual glee and think "they're stuck the same as me—that spenders really are just friends staying ahead of popular trends.

Never let the scene disgust you, even though the thing may bust you, because politics should relax us from the burden of our taxes.

U.S. and The Vatican

By David Lawrence

Truman Pledged To Name Representative

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has every intention of sending a representative to the Vatican no matter what happens to delay or block confirmation of the appointment of Gen. Mark Clark as ambassador.

This is because Mr. Truman has made a commitment to the Pope that he would send a representative to the Vatican, and he means to abide by that pledge.

It is not known just when the agreement was arrived at or by what means, but it is assumed that either the message was conveyed through Myron C. Taylor, who resigned in January, 1950 as personal representative of the President at the Vatican, or by someone else who has since visited the Pope in behalf of the President and conveyed the same information. It could, of course, have been an exchange of letters, but the important fact is that Mr. Truman has given assurances that he intends to remain faithful to his promise.

LAWRENCE

If both houses of Congress fail to bring to a vote or to pass the special legislation required to give General Clark the status that has been requested for him, so that he can serve in a diplomatic post and still retain his rank in the Army, the President may name someone else. In fact, it would not be surprising if sometime during the next session General Clark himself asked that his name be withdrawn so that it would not interfere with possible opportunities he may have for promotion to a more responsible position in the Army than he now holds as commander of the field forces.

* * *

THUS IT COULD turn out that Mr. Truman would send a "personal representative" to the Vatican without waiting for congressional action on the matter of an embassy. He has handled it by the "personal representative" method before, and so has President Roosevelt. But the envoy would not then be a formal member of the diplomatic service. So far as the Vatican is concerned, it naturally would prefer that the representation be regularized as an embassy. If Congress shows a disposition to delay indefinitely, Mr. Truman is determined that during the balance of his term there will be some representation at the Vatican.

Incidentally, the national Catholic Welfare Conference here, in a statement just released, gives the statistics about diplomatic representation at the Vatican by various countries and says:

"It should be plain from the statistics we cite that many countries which do not have Catholic majorities maintain relations with the Vatican City on the ground that it is a soverign state. The only major countries which do not send representatives to the Vatican City are: Communist Russia, Communist China, and the United States of America."

* * *

THE PRESIDENT has been impressed by the fact that all the other major powers in the free world except the United States are represented at the Vatican.

It is known, too, that the furor which the appointment of General Clark has brought about has been carefully noted by the President, and it is reported that he expected far more disapproval than has been manifested.

But there are evidences that the issue is likely to provoke even more discussion in the future than the past. This correspondent is in receipt of several documents and statements from Protestant sources indicating deep feeling about it. The principal argument made is that diplomatic recognition involves a union of church and state. Catholic statements, on the other hand, insist that the American hierarchy does not believe in a union of church and state either. This phase of the debate is not likely to be resolved in the court of public opinion, because it is bound to be lost in religious prejudices.

* * *

THE ISSUE, however, will play a part in next year's politics. The Republican-dominated Massachusetts senate just the other day voted unanimously to support President Truman's proposal. The membership there consists of 20 Protestants, 19 Catholics and one Jew. No record vote was taken.

It is regrettable, of course, that the controversy has arisen at all. It is still a mystery why the President, holding the viewpoint he has expressed, didn't promptly appoint a successor to Myron Taylor when he resigned in January, 1950. That would have simply continued a precedent established by his predecessor in the White House. Even the "personal representative" idea, on the other hand, was vehemently opposed by Protestant groups, some of whom claim the President promised he wouldn't do it. This form of appointment did not, however, evoke the widespread bitterness that has developed as a consequence of the formal request for the establishment of an embassy at the Vatican.

Last Right of Refusal

By TRUMAN TWILL

SINCE it's a God-given right of hicks who don't live in New York City to gag over some of the antics of New Yorkers, here is a New Yorkish plot to drive Kukla, Fran and Ollie out of television.

The plotters are the same crowd in general as the sharpies who put the Dave Garroway show off television after it had become the cream of the originality crop last winter.

The Garroway show and Kukla, Fran and Ollie (Burr Tillstrom) are the best products to date of what is known in TV as the Chicago school, meaning TV characterized by imagination and originality, instead of lavish sets, high-salaried performers, swollen production budgets and Broadway glitter.

Why should the Chicago school of TV be marked for the kill by the New York crowd? The answer is in two parts.

1. Most of the advertising which pays the freight is handled through agencies with headquarters in New York.

2. Most of the entertainers are found in New York and prefer to stay among friends.

If there were to be a third part, it would be something about jealously. The Chicago Daily News, reporting the growth of the plot to take Burr Tillstrom's TV time away from him, said:

"Garroway and Tillstrom were primarily responsible for the 'Chicago style' of television that won nationwide recognition last year for its simplicity and imagination. Inasmuch as both operated on budgets that were small compared with the money spent on New York shows, the success of the Chicago style was a reflection on the abilities of New York producers.

The question is whether or not these advertising and show-business people have any right to destroy everything that stands in their way even though it might be an improvement over some of their own stuff. Their scheme for getting rid of Tillstrom's show, like the one they used against Garroway, is to sell the channel time to new sponsors—and nuts to the public.

In other words the public be damned and let it eat cheese. It's just too darned bad if anyone has formed an attachment for the Garroways and Tillstroms. It's also too darned bad if some people happen to prefer to live outside New York City. They should know better.

I happen to be a hick who concluded after buying a television set that the Sunday-night show called Garroway At Large was the most original entertainment it was bringing to my fireside and that Burr Tillstrom's delightful whimsies were the high spot of the daily programs. There were matters of opinion, but the point to this squawk is that human beings have a right to opinions in this country and some of us are of the opinion that Garroway and Tillstrom were and are a darned sight more creditable to TV than a lot of the stuff their competitors are putting out. And on that subject, the New York sharpies are shelving Sam Levenson because that wholesome entertainer also has unorthodox ideas.

Okay, so we will take what we get and like it. But we can squawk, and when the experts eventually purse their lips and wonder what became of us we can chuckle. Who knows but what we might have become interested in something that at least gave lip service to the American idea that consumers have the last right of refusal? Or as Ollie might say, "Let's think this whole thing through and not do anything hasty, ga!"

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The first religious society in Marion County was of the Methodist Episcopal denomination and was formed at the log cabin of Jacob Aye near the village of Claridon in the autmn or winter of 1820. The society as it was first organized, was composed of seven members, Vinal Steward and wife, Jacob Aye Jr., Rebecca Aye and Henry Aye. Vinal Steward was a local minister and class leader. The society formed a part of Columbus Circuit of the Scioto District, Ohio Conference. Meetings were held at the home of Jacob Aye Jr. until the spring of 1823 and at the home of William Parker until 1832 or 1833 when a hewed-log house 30 feet square was erected one mile northeast of Claridon. The church was given the name of English Chapel.

The Dixie Flag and Its Meaning

By George E. Sokolsky

IN STORES in southern cities, neckties, flags, caps are sold exhibiting the Confederate flag. Automobiles fly the flag on their radiators.

It is not a symbol of rebellion against the United States. It is the symbol of schism in the Democratic party. The unpopularity of Harry Truman is not personal; it, too, is symbolic of distress at the corruption in Washington and the treachery in foreign affairs.

SOKOLSKY

To a New Yorker, like myself, the South is always a puzzle. I said to James Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville Banner, that the columnists and correspondents who speak so surely about all things American from the vantage point of Washington and New York ought to be required to take "atmosphere" trips all over the United States.

This country is so varied, popular responses are so different; no one part of the country can speak for all of it. Each area has a political and social climate that is distinct and important. It is not a matter of a particular story or even of an individual. It is something that goes deep into the three centuries of American history. The events of today, the nuances of activities today, were manufactured, by historical processes, long ago, often long before men and women migrated to this country. It is like the cast of the profile of seemingly unrelated individuals whose nose and forehead and coloring bespeak, centuries ago perhaps, a common ancestor.

The Scotch-Irish Convenanters who settled in Tennessee, for instance, were an unusually sturdy and uncompromising breed of man.

* * *

THE SCHISM in the Democratic party in the South may or may not express itself in votes in 1952. I do not believe that I am sufficiently experienced to judge that. But it is obvious that it does and must influence the votes of members of the Senate and the House of Representatives. They can not avoid the "atmosphere" any more than I could. They may kill off the rebellion before election day, but they will not forget that Harry Truman was once one of them and is no longer.

These Democrats feel disgraced. They feel betrayed by their own party. So far as I can gauge sentiment, these men remain Democrats and are likely, in spite of their thinking, to pursue their sentiments. Naturally, the Northern Democrats stake their plans on sentiment winning over knowledge and thought.

A break must come sooner or later in this "atmosphere." Just as New England is producing a New Deal Republican party to meet the shifting population of that area, so in the South some day an issue will arise which by sentiment will overcome the traditions of the Civil War. It may be so in 1952 or it may not, but it must come because the thinking of these Southerners is too much like that of most Northerners for a meeting of the minds not to occur sometime.

* * *

THE SOPHISTICATES of the New York skyscrapers call this region "the Bible belt" in derision, failing to recognize that it is no more possible to separate American tradition from the Bible than it is Russia from the Okon. God is for many of these people not an abstraction or a subject for sociological disputation. He is a living, influencing, destinating being, a guiding intelligence. The ridicule which the very smart minds hurled at "The Bible Belt" did not seep below the surface; it was little more than Yankee drivel to them. And that is probably a correct view.

The importance of the relationship between these people and the Bible is in their distress at the corruption and immorality of Washington. When I heard Washington and New York referred to as Sodom and Gomorrah, I was not shocked. Somehow, in the "atmosphere" in which I found myself, it seemed to be right. The sophisticates' attitude often reflect a revolt against American tradition.

All this may appear to be a superficial reaction to a short visit, but in this business of capturing the "atmosphere" of many places, of foreign countries and alien peoples, it seems to me that every people in every part of the world is stirred in troubled times by its own traditions which, no matter how long quiescent, never really die.

In troubled times, a people looks inward, back to the great storm in its racial life which moved it to take up its belongings and wander elsewhere. It was such a stirring that sent these Scotch-Irish to these shores; it is stirring them now to fierce decision.

Boat Builders

MOOSONEE, Ont.—(AP)—The hardy Roman Catholic missionaries who serve the Indians of James Bay and Hudson Bay have completed a major engineering job. Three lay brothers of the Oblate Order have constructed a 59-foot, 35-ton power-boat in a shed beside the frame palace of Bishop Henri Belleau. Christened the Notre Dame de L'Esperance (Our Lady of Hope), the new vessel returns the seagoing "fleet" of the Oblate missionaries to its full complement of three ships.

Ugh!

VERNON, Tex., (AP) — Bad news for the kids. A bumper crop of castor-oil beans is on the way from this North Texas and neighboring Oklahoma area. Farmers expect to reap a harvest of more than $2,000,000 when the work's all done. However, the kids don't get it all. Uncle Sam is stockpiling the stuff because it's used in manufacturing a special grease for jet airplanes. Its lubricating properties stand up equally well in extremes of heat or cold.

I mean fundamentally strong with the outlook bright especially in men's sports clothes . . . There goes my mind wandering again! . . . I'll say what all Americans must accept is equality of sacrifice . . . Hold everything! . . . Will that sound okay coming from me down here at Key West? . . . How about a paragraph saying it is the duty of every American to look himself in the face and ask 'Am I sacrificing enough?' . . . Ahem . . . I don't know about that . . . Some of those smart alec newspapermen could make some wisecracks . . . I'll have to say something about it being up to us all to sink or swim together . . . I like that swimming angle . . . or do I?"

* * *

Later (on the beach): "It's really too hot to compose a State of the Union message . . . But I must try . . . I must say something about putting our shoulders to the wheel . . . Ouch! . . . That reminds me my shoulders got a terrible burn yesterday . . . Huh? . . . What wheel? . . . There are all sorts of wheels in Florida . . . Might be some misunderstanding . . . Better leave that wheel stuff out."

* * *

As he plunges in: "Oh, let's forget the State of the Union and think of my budget message . . . I do very well on budget messages between the bench and a raft . . . The temperature is a little high for budget messages, but there's a cool breeze on the water . . . A breeze helps in considering a deficit . . . Guess I'll float on my back a while . . . How restful it is here! . . . Tide right, sun right, breeze right . . . Everything right except Winnie Churchill's coming visit . . . Wonder how much he'll want this time? . . . Br-r-r-r! . . . It's getting chilly or do I imagine it? . . . Something's always taking the joy out of life . . . I wonder what those southern governors will do in Hot Springs . . . Any RFC men written any new books since I left Washington? . . . Has Warren Austin got everything in hand in Paris? . . . What's that blankety-blank Vishinsky saying today? . . . I wish I really knew what Ike was going to do . . . Wonder what he's doing this minute? . . . One thing I'm sure he's not doing is having a swim . . . Is that good? . . . Phew! . . . AND PEOPLE THINK I'M ENJOYING MYSELF HERE!"

ON A REPORT of a barracuda nearby, President Truman's guards tipped him to get out of the water the other day . . . Nonsense! . . . In a fighting mood, Harry could bite them back . . . Isn't it just possible the barracuda were coming in to talk truce terms? . . . Tea-Maker won at $22.90 and Shudda Haddim is again morning low . . . "I ask a guy for a tip on that race and he tells me he hears there's a horse that's boiling hot and in the bag! And I still don't get no hunch!" . . . New York bus drivers want the 40-hour week . . . What annoys bus passengers is the 40-hour block . . . The case of two New Yorker exporters who defrauded India by shipping thousands of cases of sweepings and junk to that country, representing it as a badly needed commodity, came before a U.S. court the other day and, believe it or not, lawyers claimed the boys were psychiatric cases and asked for nothing more severe than fines and probation!

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Monday, Nov. 17, 1941.

John L. Lewis informed President Roosevelt by letter that the United Mine Workers had refused to accept an open shop agreement in the captive coal mines because it would "invalidate" other agreements in operation throughout the soft coal mining industry. That's a big thing and should raise a lot of money. Go even if it's my picture and you should have to sleep through it. I always holler at the end of each one, so it wakes everybody up and let's them know it's over."

Kenneth E. Young of Kenton was appointed secretary to Congressman Frank E. Mouser Jr. Young was to succeed J. Wesley Masters of Mt. Gilead, who had resigned to become assistant service director with the Ohio Department of the American Legion.

In Loving Memory

★Of William E. Boothe, who passed away one year ago today, Nov. 17, 1950.

One year has passed from us
Since we have seen you last
A voice we all loved is stilled
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Your end was sudden my dear
You made us weep and cry
But the saddest part of it all
You never said goodby.
Little did we think when leaving home,
That you would return no more
That you alone in death would sleep alone,
And leave us here to mourn.
But it's not ours to know the reason why
From loved ones we must part
But ours to live in hope and faith
Til God do us part.
Sadly missed by wife,
Ruth May Boothe,
Daughter, Louise H. Boothe.

Adrian W. Dewind talked with Murphy.

But he told newsmen he expected the public—and the press—would get a "play by play description" at the forthcoming hearings.

King refused to answer "yes" or "no" to questions whether other individuals in the Justice Department would be involved. But he said:

"This is just the first individual, or matter, that we have taken up in the tax division."

The Caudle firing was the latest in a series of some 26 suspensions or firings in the wake of the committee's tax investigations. All previous ones, however, have been in the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Six of them were collectors, of whom two have been indicted for bribery and other misconduct. As head of the Justice Department's tax division, Caudle was responsible for prosecution of tax cases developed by the Internal Revenue Bureau, which collects federal taxes.

MRS. BERTRAM H. FREED

Miss Barbara Hai Becomes Bride Of Bertram H. Freed

MISS BARBARA LEE HAI of Albany, N. Y., became the bride of Bertram Howard Freed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Freed of 512 Vernon Heights Blvd., Nov. 4 at the Temple Beth Emeth in Albany.

Rabbi Samuel Wolk performed the evening ceremony under a white canopy supported by white Grecian columns and covered with Southern smilax and garlands of white flowers. A reception and dinner were held in the Colonie Country Club after the ceremony.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hai, was escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore a gown of antique white silk satin and Brussels lace, fashioned with portrait neckline, fitted bodice, and long pointed sleeves. The full satin skirt ended in a cathedral train, and the full-length veil was attached to a lace cap which had been worn by her mother. She carried a Bible with a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis, and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Betty L. Freed, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride as maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Joan Doling and Miss Marilyn Doling of Albany, cousins of the bride, Miss Shelley Epstein of New York City, and Miss Helen Cohn of Syracuse. All the attendants wore gowns of champagne taffeta with short fitted jackets and full skirts.

Jerrold Abelson of Marion served as best man, and ushers were James Teitelbaum of Marion, Sanford Armstrong of Cincinnati, Robert Barrar of Dayton, and Melvin Kraft of New York.

The couple returned Wednesday from a wedding trip to Bermuda. They will live in an apartment on S. State St.

Mr. Freed attended Bradley Polytechnic Institute and Ohio State University, and is now associated with his father in the May Jewelry Co. His wife was graduated last January from Cornell University.

Marion Garden Center Notes

USE YOUR WOOD ASHES

For many years wood ashes have been used by many gardeners in their soils because of their potash content and likewise the high percentage of lime.

Be sure that they are stored under cover or else applied to the soil immediately, so that any leaching will force the potash into the soil you plan to use.

The usual safe amount to apply to the soil is 5-10 pounds per 100 square feet. However, since the potash is in the form of potassium carbonate, which is very alkaline, the application should be made in such a manner that direct contact with germinating seeds or plant roots is avoided.

Wood ashes are best applied before crops are planted and since potassium is not readily lost from soils which have some humus in them, applications may even be made the fall previous.

Wood ashes should not be confused with coal ashes, the function of which when used liberally is to loosen the soil and provide greater aeration and better drainage. The precautions are not to use wood ashes on alkaline soils and to mix them with fresh manure, particularly when these are applied as top dressing during the season of growth.

WOMEN may wind up with curling irons again!

The new coiffures for early spring are as short as they've ever been and twice as curly, according to hairstylist Victor Vito.

He predicts that the "topsy cut" will be the hairdo of the coming season—and with the "topsy cut," there are too many curls to make a pin-curl set feasible.

So instead of putting up the hair at night, the stylist recommends reviving the electric curling iron to put the ringlet crown around the head.

Even for longer bobs, the iron can add shape and curl to stray hairs. And after the hair is washed—a cold iron is an excellent device to use for rolling the hair into corckscrew which will turn out fluffier than the plastered-to-the-head pincurl.

"The curling iron," says Vito, "is a practical beauty implement. I dont' know why it ever went out of favor."

He said the pictures, released with Washington's approval, showed bodies shot in the head with hands tied behind their backs.

"It may well be that in no other way could all lingering doubts be dispelled from the minds of our people as to the methods which the leaders of communism are willing to use, and actually do use, in their efforts to destroy free peoples and the principles for which they stand," Ridgway said.

The supreme allied commander expressed deepest sympathy for relatives and friends of U.N. command soldiers still carried on the casualty lists as missing in action.

"We, their comrades, who shared and so knew personally the conditions under which they were found, would be the last ones on earth to wish to add to the grief of their families," he said.

"Yet notwithstanding this feeling of deep regret over what has occurred, it may perhaps be well to note with deep reverence that in his inscrutable way God chose to bring home to our people and to the conscience of the world the moral principles of the leaders of the forces against which we fight in Korea."

Ridgway said more than a year ago it became apparent "that Communists' statements concerning their strict adherence to the principles of the Geneva convention in the treatment of prisoners of war in their custody were false."

U.N. To Take Up Western Proposal First

Delegates to Discuss Disarmament Before Russia "Peace Plan"

PARIS, Nov. 17—(AP)—The United Nations political committee today voted to begin immediate discussion of a French-British-American disarmament plan. It shifted debate on a Russian "Peace Plan" to the end of the Paris session.

The vote was 45 to 5 (the Soviet bloc against) with five abstentions.

Committee debate on the three-power plan will begin Monday with U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson leading the fight for adoption of the proposals.

The 60-member committee also rejected by a vote of 38 to 6 with 19 abstentions a Soviet plea that a Russian peace plan presented to the U.N. General Assembly yesterday be discussed immediately after the western plan.

Acheson had asked in his speech at the opening of the committee meetings today that the western proposals be discussed first and the Russian plan be postponed until late in the session because it "duplicates other items" already on the committee's work sheet.

Russia's Jacob Malik agreed that the western proposal should come first, but insisted that the plans submitted at the General Assembly by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky be discussed immediately afterward.

Malik said the disarmament proposals "will brook no delay."

Both the western and Russian proposals were presented during the U.N. general assembly's session here. The western big three called for a step-by-step world census of all weapons, including atom bombs, followed by "foolproof" controls and progressive disarmament.

The Russians countered with their old peace plan calling for immediate banning of atomic weapons and asked for a peace pact between the Big Five nations—the U.S., Russia, Britain, France and Communist China.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

DETROIT

ONE man's follow traveling up what he thinks is the glory road inside labor may yet cost this nation thousands of tanks, bomber engines and secret scientific experimentation.

Judge this man by the company he keeps. High on his wall is a picture of his patron, John Llewellyn Lewis, bigger of course than the smaller copies distributed to the rest of the staff. All autographed too, in that blustering Lewis signature. And under that Wagnerian image, Mr. Lewis has seen to it that, in absentia, he is represented by one of his agents whom he keeps permanently in this auto town.

Victor Riesel

He advises the man on the glory road, Carl Stellato by name, leader of 45,000 Ford Co. workers by profession.

For months now, one of John L's men has been with Stellato in the headquarters of the Ford section of the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union. For months now, Carl Stellato, Ford local president, has been taking John Lewis' transmitted advice in an old fashioned sport-baiting the boss at Ford in an effort to build a political machine around malcontents.

* * *

TO DO THIS, Stellato has told his people that it may be necessary to strike to win the pie-in-the-sky he has been asking. And he has been berating the Ford contract now, although it has four years more to run.

Such a strike would disrupt the Defense Dept's time-table designed to get us, with express train speed, to that moment in mid-1953 when we would be able to swing into all-out push-button war production at a moment's notice.

Such a strike would seriously slow the production of GAA tank engines which have one of the Pentagon's highest ordinance priorities.

Such a strike would cripple production of parts for Pratt and Whitney Wasp Major aircraft engine for the B-36 bomber which Ford plans to produce in Chicago next March. These parts are being built now in the Dearborn engine plant here.

Such a strike would halt, absolutely, vital secret research and development work being done in the River Rouge plant for the three armed services. These are described to me as extremely critical in future production of defense material.

Such a strike would halt work on the "prototype" (model) of a jet engine which has one of the highest priorities of one of the armed services which I'm not permitted to name.

* * *

FINALLY, SUCH a strike would wipe out "vital" production of trucks and slash the much needed steel which the revitalized Ford Co. is producing, not only for itself but for other defense manufacturers as well.

Is such a strike necessary?

Carl Stellato, whom John L Lewis seeks to build up as a competitor to Walter Reuther, president of the Auto Workers, says he may be forced to call one. Why?

Because, says this friend of Lewis, the Ford Motor Co. is shipping its machinery to other cities, thus denuding the gargantuan River Rouge plant and so depriving Detroit workers of their bread for all time.

But, before we go into the vital statistics here, and even before we point out that Mr. Stellato is up for re-election soon in a union campaign which costs thousands of dolalrs because 45,000 union voters must be reached with tons of virulent literature, it must first be noted that any cessation of Ford's shift of machinery will injure this nation's defense. And that comes first.

"Instead of putting defense production into Rouge, the company is shipping it out to its plant in Chicago and elsewhere," Stellato shouted at a mass meeting here the other day.

* * *

AT THIS POINT, the full horror of this kind of union politics hits one Mr. Stellato knows that Ford will be making much needed B-36 bomber engines in Chicago. He certainly is aware that a huge plant has been squatting vacant there. He has been informed that it has 7,000,000 square feet compared with the 1,200,000 here and that engines can be whipped off the belts twice as fast there. He knows, (huge concrete-covered compartments) are available there to test each new motor, but are not available here. And that many a kid's lift will depend on those tests.

He has been told that only 7,200 men have lost jobs here and that that is due to civilian slashes. He has been informed that by next June all these, and more, will be working for Ford in this area.

But go tell that to a man on the glory road—who sits under the picture of his patron, John Lewis.

HOT TURKEYS IN COOLER. Two tom turkeys, destined for Thanksgiving dinner tables, get temporary respite behind the bars of a Rockford, Ill, jail cell after police locked them up. The two "jailbirds" were found in the luggage compartment of an automobile by police. Lacking housing facilities for live loot, police had to lock the turkeys in a cell. Two 19-year-old Rockford youths, were charged with larceny. Police said they admitted taking the turkeys from a farm near Roscoe, Ill.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Signs Which May Be Warning of Coronary Heart Disease

Most people think of a coronary heart attack as a disaster which strikes out of the blue, coming suddenly and without warning to fell those who have had no previous symptoms.

This may appear to be true even to the patient himself. Yet, recent research indicates that in 30 per cent of these patients, warnings do occur. If this study were carried further, it would doubtless be found that many other such patients experienced advance symptoms which, correctly interpreted, would have served notice of an impending heart attack.

Coronary heart disease is due to a narrowing and partial blocking of the arteries which supply the heart muscle with blood. Eventually, a clot forms to plug the artery completely, thus cutting off the blood supply through this channel and resting in a heart attack.

In a study of 139 patients, it was found that 40 had experienced definite warning symptoms. Pain over the breast bone, spreading to the arms, shoulders, neck, or area just below the ribs was the most frequent sign, but it varied in the different patients from a vague discomfort or a dull ache to severe, vise-like gripping pain. In most instances, it occurred after exertion and disappeared with rest. In addition to pain, most patients experienced severe shortness of breath.

Where coronary heart disease is suspected, the electrocardiogram may be helpful in diagnosing early cases. A new test, in which an electrocardiogram is taken before and after physical exertion, is sometimes extremely helpful in diagnosing this condition.

The patient should look upon such symptoms as those described above with concern and should consult his physician as soon as he can, so that, if possible, preventive measures, such as bed rest and the use of certain drugs which prevent the clotting of the blood in the arteries of the heart, may be instituted. Adherence to such a program may avert disaster.

Questions and Answers

U. S.: What causes white marks on the hands, elbows and ankles?

Answer. It is possible that you are suffering from a condition known as leukoderma. The exact cause of this condition is not known, but too much exposure to the sunlight may be partly responsible.

There is not a great deal that can be done for leukoderma. Certain drugs are given internally, such as arsenic and extracts of the thyroid and suprarenal glands.

Ad of Marion Store Reproduced In Magazine

A full-page advertisement of the H. Schaffner Co., 164 S. Main St, which appeared last summer in The Star, has received nationwide attention in the November issue of the National Furniture Review, a monthly publication by the National Retail Furniture Association.

The ad, carrying the heading, "The Laugh's On Us," attracted attention from its humorous angle.

It was published during the store-wide warehouse sale held by the company last summer.

It was designed by James H Nece, advertising manager of the store.

The ad was reproduced in full in the magazine. It was one of three ads of stores in the U.S. to be reproduced.

Cong. Betts On Program At Sparta

Addition To School Building Dedicated

Special to The Star

SPARTA, Nov. 17—"Your new building is a tool for you to use to carry out high ideals," Congressman Jackson Betts said Friday night in giving an address at a dedication program in the new Sparta school gymnasium.

The building, which houses principally the school gymnasium and auditorium, is an addition to the Sparta school building. Construction of the building, a $70,000 project, was started last summer and just recently completed. Approximately 500 persons attended the dedication program.

Supt. H. Ray Wagner introduced Congressman Betts by reviewing the Sparta senior class trip to Washington last spring when Betts guided them through the capital building.

"Keep well informed" was the theme of the congressman's talk, as he pointed out three things for consideration. These were to revive our thinking about politicians, to become acquainted with the issues before us today, and to regard the position of the United States in the world.

Also on the program were Royce Jennings and John Churella, contractors of New London; Forest Porter, clerk of the school board; Harry J. Blumenshenkel, architect of Mansfield; T. A. Gant, county school superintendent; Gerald Hulse of the alumni association; Mrs. Bernice Southard, who sang; Marilee Sears, Donald Powell and Betty Altizer, tap dancers; Mrs. Paul Belcher, pianist; and a mixed chorus, directed by Douglas Chapman, music instructor, which sang two numbers.

STORE SALES UP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(UP)—Department store sales last week averaged six percent higher across the country than in the same week of 1950, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Leading in sales were stores in the Boston, Cleveland, Dallas, and Atlanta Federal Reserve Districts. Only the St. Louis area showed a decline.

New York Columnist From Marion To Wed Socialite

The wedding of John McClain, New York columnist and former resident of Marion, and Edith Farr of that city will take place in the near future. Mr. McClain, who is the son of C. W. McClain of 198 Orchard St., plans to bring his fiancee here to visit his father over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Cholly Knickerbocker's column, "The Smart Set" in the New York Journal-American reported the engagement, adding, "Edith 'Mousie' Farr is the daughter of the socially distinguished Reginald Finckes. 'Mousie,' who received a Virgin Island divorce nearly a year ago from Francis Farr, socialite broker, is one of Southampton's and New York's most beautiful women."

Mr. McClain writes a daily column, "Man About Manhattan," in the New York Journal-American and is co-publisher of a quarterly magazine, Carnival. He was a ships reporter on the old New York Sun before going to Hollywood several years ago. On the staff of MGM studios, he was given a leave of absence for three and one-half years to serve with the Navy Photographic Services, office of the Secretary of the Navy.

He was temporarily attached to the advance headquarters of the commander in chief, U. S. Pacific Fleet, during the filming and production of Navy public release motion pictures. He holds the Bronze Star Medal for his services during the filming and production of Navy public release motion pictures in the Pacific area. Mr. McClain was on the editorial staff of The Marion Star a number of years ago.

Bucyrus Suit In High Court

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17—(AP)—Charles Contris, Allen County livestock raiser, asked the Ohio Supreme Court today to help him collect $30,586 he claims due from a Bucyrus bank and others.

The bank is the Farmers and Citizens Bank and Savings Co. Other defendants are a deceased director, J. E. Faulkner; a livestock dealer, E J Pfleiderer and a livestock broker, M. E. Sherk, both of Bucyrus.

Contris said he bought livestock with his own money on orders from Sherk and delivered and sold the animals to a Chicago packing house. He said Sherk paid him with checks drawn on the Bucyrus bank, but that they were not honored.

Crawford County Common Pleas Court awarded Contris the full amount with interest from Jan. 29, 1947, against Sherk, and dismissed the other defendants.

But Sherk was bankrupt and Contris appealed the decision. An appellate court dismissed his petition and Contris turned to the Supreme Court.

Church Holds Harvest Event

A Harvest Home Festival, held Thursday night at the Prospect Street Methodist Church under sponsorship of the Senior Youth Fellowship of the Church, was attended by approximately 100 persons. All funds realized during the evening will go to the Worthington Children's Home and to the Toledo Flower Hospital, two Methodist projects.

The evening's activities included supper served at 6:30, followed by an evening of entertainment at various booths and a program presented by the Fellowship members. The booths were handmade articles, calendars, a fish pond, baked goods and candy and popcorn, with the various classes and organizations of the church taking part.

The church basement was decorated in keeping with the fall season and the Fellowship members were attired in white shirts, jeans and straw hats to carry out the harvest theme. The program included selections by a kazoo band, a twirling demonstration by Ronnie Owens and Rozella Gettys, and a style show depicting the different eras of the past.

Judy Garland

NEW YORK

WHAT does the future hold for Judy Garland? Today, no one knows the answer to this, one of the most puzzling questions in the theatrical world. Yet until she collapsed on the stage of the Palace Theatre Sunday night, everyone knew the answer.

Her sensational comeback at the Palace had made her the hottest theatrical property on Broadway or Hollywood. Offers were pouring in, beseeching her to appear in plays, musicals, in concert, on radio and TV. Everyone thought Judy destined for the brightest stardom in the theatrical galaxy.

Inez Robb

Yet her collapse at the Palace, smacking so much of her frequent inability to face the camera in Hollywood, has the theatrical world wondering today if this bright star will fade from the legitimate theatre as from the cinema.

Twenty-four hours before her collapse, I saw Judy and wrote the following interview. She seemed physically well and emotionally composed and happy when I talked with her.

* * *

WHAT HAPPENED to cause her collapse within the next 24-hours baffles Broadway.

"How many playwrights and composers have been around to ask if they can write a play or compopse a musical for you?" I asked her.

"Well, to tell you the truth, a lot," Judy, in her Palace dressing room, said matter-of-factly.

"But what I'm really thinking about now is a concert tour. I'll be at the Palace for three months, so I'll have some time to think things over. And I may do some radio appearances. But not TV." She said positively, "I'm simply not the type.

"And I think I'd like to do a Broadway show," said the Hollywood star whose only other performances on Broadway before the Palace engagement were personal appearances in connection with her movie career.

"A movie? Yes, I'd like to do another movie," was the decisive answer of the star whose sixteen-year career in Hollywood was one of much personal frustration and bitter unhappiness. "But it'd have to be a really good one, really good, with a first-class spot for me."

By Inez Robb

AND HOLLYWOOD will have to take her as she is.

"I've lost 30 pounds," she said. 'Sure, II was fat as a butter ball. But I'm down to 116 pounds now and I don't intend to lose any more. Look, I'm happy. I feel good. And when I'm below this weight, I'm cross and mean to everyone including myself."

Constant dieting in Hollywood, a struggle that left her always hungry for months on end, has been blamed by those who know Judy as one of the important factors in her crack-up in the movie capital.

"Marlene Dietrich took me to her doctor and he helped me lose weight sensibly," said Judy, who makes gay fun of herself and her plumpness in her Palace routine. But the truth is that she is somewhere between a size 12 and 14 now, and looks pretty as a picture.

She shooted in derision when I asked her why, as pretty as she is, she makes no attempt to be a glamour girl in her Palace act.

"I haven't got what it takes," she insisted. "I'm not a glamour girl. Don't think I haven't tried—alone, and in front of the mirror. You should see me as a glamour girl—I feel like an idiot and I look like a dope."

The Red Massacres

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THERE IS no parallel in American history to the cold-blooded massacre of some 5,500 U. S. prisoners of war by the Communists in Korea.

Assuming that the current official investigation bears out the report of Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the advocate section of the Eighth Army, then:

It is by far the greatest atrocity committed against our nation since its founding.

It negates the principles upon which our republic is built—the value of the individual and human rights.

Hal Boyle

In the seven-year struggle to achieve American independence the U. S. Army estimates at least 4,044 American soldiers were "killed" in battle.

* * *

YET IN LESS than a year-and-a-half of the "police action" in Korea the enemy has murdered in cold blood more than 5,500 captured and defenseless American troops. They have murdered more Americans than died to make us a free people.

The figure is almost too shocking to comprehend. For these outright murders of our men are only a small fraction of our total Korean casualties—now at the 100,000 mark.

And the murders of our men are only a small fraction of the murders committed by the Reds among captured South Korean troops and the South Korean civilian population.

But the number of disarmed Americans they have brutally shot down or clubbed to death makes the Custer massacre of the Indian wars or the Malmedy Massacre of the last world war look like misdemeanors.

These endless, fruitless and useless slayings by the Chinese and North Korean Reds must put before civilized mankind again its oldest question—does human life hold any dignity, or must peoples feed upon each other as animals?

IN THE 20TH CENTURY mind, brought up in a time of atrocity, is dulled to the very word atrocity. It tends to regard atrocity and propaganda as the same word.

There are people today who already are willing to believe that Hitler's human death factories were only legends.

Gen. George S. Patton was aware of people's tendency to shrug away distasteful facts. When his Third Army captured a Nazi concentration camp, he forced the civilian population of the nearest town to walk through the camp and gaze at the inmates—the piled dead, the starving living. He wanted them to remember forever what their government did to helpless men.

These massacres in Korea are no more legendary than the massacres of Hitler, and no more to be condoned.

IN THE PRISON at Taejon in Sept. 1950, I saw the corpses of 400 civilians shot by the retreating Reds. What crimes had these dead folk committed? The crime of many consisted in the fact that they owned a rice paddy, were landlords or merely had remained indifferent to the Communist cause.

By Hal Boyle

In the courtyard of the Taejon city jail I watched as they dug out the bodies of a line of American soldier prisoners. They had been tied together at the wrists, forced to kneel in a quickly dug ditch, then shot down. Two of the American boys died holding each other in a final handclasp.

There have been scores of massacres like this in Korea, some smaller, some larger.

How can these dead soldiers ever rest easy in their graves until America does something about it?

HOW MUCH ARE YOU PAID?

A 200 Lbs. Fat cow pays you about 25c an hour for your labor. Under similar costs a 400 lbs. fat cow will pay you $1.30 an hour.

The 200 lbs. fat cow can look just like the 400 lbs. fat cow. She will eat almost as much feed. She takes up the same space in the barn. But what a difference in the profit at the end of the year! Testing every cow points out the money-makers from those that lose money for you. It's the only sure way to find your good cows!

Breed your cows to Bulls Proved Good. Raise calves that will "pail out" that extra milk. This means money to buy things you've always wanted on the farm and in the home. Service to PROVED Northern Ohio BULLS costs only $6.00 per cow (three services if you need them).
